Grass Lake School Must Balance Funds

by MARK BENNO

The Citizen's Advisory Committee for Grass Lake School will meet on Thursday, Dec. 11, at Grass Lake School. The 7 p.m. meeting will attempt to deal with a serious matter at the school: the problem of deficit spending in the education fund.

The committee has been meeting to review the financial situation of Grass Lake School, and they will present their findings to the Grass Lake School Board.

Supt. Anthony Przeklasa, when asked if the matter was a major problem, said, "Yes.

It's a situation where something has to be done."

Although Przeklasa is a relatively new addition to Grass Lake School, he was under the impression that the school operated in a similar fiscal manner last year.

When asked about methods to curb the deficit spending in the education fund, Przeklasa said that either an increase of revenue for Grass Lake School or cuts in the budget remain possibilities.

The committee has reviewed the financial condition of the school, and is ready to give suggestions regarding future spending to both the board and visitors at the meeting.

Przeklasa added that the board and committee are, "now meeting with me to get a real update of the school's finances."

He said that all interested residents should attend this important meeting.

Chamber To Select New Directors

"The goals of the Antioch Chamber of Commerce and Industry are to foster and promote the civic, commercial, and industrial growth and welfare of the people and businesses of Antioch," said Larry Hanson, president.

At this time every year, the Chamber asks its members to recommend and nominate those people who exercise good quality leadership to the Executive Board of Directors of the Antioch Chamber of Commerce for 1987.

These people will represent the Chamber members in all of the decision making for chamber-related activities, and to also act as its governing body.

The Chamber wants its members to nominate up to three people for the position openings. Nominations are coordinated through the State Bank of Antioch.

After the nominations are received, a nominating committee composed of past Chamber presidents, former board members, and present board members will select a ballot, based on the nominations received, and then set a date for the vote.

The Antioch Chamber of Commerce thanks its members for their support in this matter.

Church Fetes Bass Soloist

The Chain of Lakes Community Bible Church will hold an announcement of Christ's birth during its worship service at 9:30 a.m. on Sunday, Dec. 13. Rev. Donald Sweeting will preside over the ceremony.

A special evening of music will also be sponsored by the church. At 6:30 p.m. on Sunday, bass soloist Vann Trapp will entertain all guests.

The musical entertainment will take place at the VFW hall on North Ave. in Antioch. Rev. Sweeting urges all interested to attend.

November Meetings Bring 7 New Moose Members

The three November meetings of the Antioch Women of the Moose produced seven new members. Two were named in honor of the library chairman, Sarah Dykstra, and five enrolled during a special Sunday meeting paying tribute to Dorothy Laursen, the past regent who, while serving last year as senior regent of the Antioch chapter, earned the award of achievement presented by Mooseheart.

Visiting chapters from Cicero, McHenry, Fox Lake, Harvard, Woodstock, Batavia, Zion-Benton and Des Plaines, served as officers. Two special guests were international officer Marianna Koller from Portage Park, a member of the board of the College of Regents; and state officer Luanda Gallion from Joliet, past deputy grand regent. Both spoke of membership and the honor earned by the chapter and Junior Graduate Regent Laursen.

Jerri Polson, a member of the Antioch chapter, was named co-worker of the month for serving continually as a volunteer during her over 25 years of membership.

A donation was made to the Antioch Library on behalf of the library committee, along with an additional check forwarded to Mooseheart for their library.

During Thanksgiving week, baskets for the needy were made ready and distributed to needy families in the area. Donations for these baskets were made by members and those attending Wednesday afternoon games at the Moose Lodge.

December meetings include the chapter Christmas party on Dec. 11 and a business meeting on Dec. 18.

For more information, contact Judy Page at (312)395-5710.

Bank Holds Tax Seminar

On Wednesday, Dec. 3, the First National Bank of Antioch hosted a tax seminar at Harbor Ridge Country Club in Antioch. The speaker for the seminar was Pat Murphy, from the accounting firm of Peat, Marwick, Mitchell, and Co.

The 1986 Tax Reform Act was the topic of the meeting, which focused on the new tax laws and how it may affect individuals and small businesses.

Venus Saylek of First National Bank said, "the customer response for the seminar was excellent." She also added that the seminar was held in an open forum format, with questions raised by all participants.

Murphy fielded all questions concerning the tax laws, and how greatly they have affected each citizen.

'Chipping' In For Disabled

On the floor of the Illinois House, State Rep. Dick Klemm, right, (R-Crystal Lake), discusses legislation with Attorney General Neil Hartigan which would establish a Comprehensive Health Insurance Plan (CHIP) for the disabled and others who cannot obtain health insurance. As approved by the Illinois House, the legislation would create an insurance pool for Illinois residents who are either forced to pay exorbitant premiums or go without coverage because of pre-existing health problems. CHIP will be funded by participants' premium payments, with the state covering cost overruns. Hartigan was involved in the development of the CHIP legislation which will be sent to the Governor for approval.

New Brain Atlas Is Useful Diagnostic Tool

A unique, state-of-the-art computer-based EEG system designed to dynamically explore the rapidly changing functional states of the brain is now operational and available for use at the Chicago Medical School.

According to Michael A. Taylor, M.D., professor and chairman of the department of psychiatry at the Chicago Medical School/The University of Health Sciences, this "Brain Atlas," offers a unique diagnostic and consultative service to community physicians. Moreover, he emphasizes that it is a safe and non-invasive tool used to effectively portray in multicolored maps functional changes of the brain's electrical activity which can be used as a complement to CT, MRI (magnetic resonance image) and neuropsychological (cognitive) testing (e.g. memory, perception, thinking).

"To put it simply," he says, "the Brain Atlas makes it possible to detect subtle functional abnormalities that may elude anatomical and metabolic tests and traditional EEG study."

One application of the equipment will be in the Child Development Center of CMS/UHS-Lake County's first comprehensive center for evaluation, referral and treatment of problems relating to physical, emotional and mental development in children.

The Brain Atlas measures brain signals at discreet time intervals from as many as 32 sources. Twenty scalp electrodes produce eye-appealing color maps that describe moment-to-moment variations in scalp distribution of spontaneous EEG, as well as evoked potential activities.

Dr. Taylor says that 12 additional channels are available for recording of additional signal sources, such as EKG, EMG, blood pressure or any other function which can be correlated to the ongoing topographic brain activity. The result, he indicates, is an amazing yet compact topographic brain mapping system with remarkable and high accurate capabilities.

One of the reasons the Brain Atlas provides such a wealth of potentially valuable clinical information, says Dr. Taylor, is that, for example, during evoked potential mapping, both the conventional (normal) averaged waveforms and sequential maps appear, providing the clinician with a familiar frame of comparative references, or check points. In addition, cursors moving along the wave-form indicate the time at which each individual map is produced. One result is that the data obtained from individual patients can be compared to those acquired from an appropriate "control" group...to determine whether or not an individual patient's results differs significantly from normal values.

Among the many clinical applications and potential uses of the Brain Atlas, according to Dr. Taylor, are:

- Determination of epileptic discharges
- The monitoring of the growth and/or changes in the evolution of cortical dysfunctions in patients who are known to have cerebral lesions
- Detection of early evidence or cortical dysfunction in the course of carotid artery and other surgeries
- Evaluation of learning disabilities such as dyslexia
- Differentiating mental disorders
- Assisting in early diagnosis of dementia

The applications are virtually limitless, he says. "Topographic brain mapping by the Brain Atlas expands the horizons of diagnosis of brain dysfunction in a manner that was not previously possible. Because the Brain Atlas is based on the latest microcomputer technology, it is more capable and far less expensive than systems based on earlier technologies, and provides a permanent patient record."

Physicians can make appointments to see the Brain Atlas and to investigate its potential use for their patients by calling Dr. Taylor at (312) 578-3330.

Local Monastery To Move To Pennsylvania

In 1987 the Benedictine Sisters will have served the Antioch area for 40 years. However, they are now in the process of affiliating/merging with another Benedictine Community, Mount St. Benedict Monastery, in Erie, Pa.

Several years ago the Benedictine Sisters at Benet Lake realized that because of a dearth of vocations and ministry options, they were not growing in the area of their foundation. These visionary women then explored their future possibilities and examined various options with three other Benedictine communities, including Erie.

After due consideration, both houses concluded that the most viable alternative was for Holy Family to affiliate with Mount St. Benedict. Canonical procedures allow three to five years for the completion of this process, at the end of which time, the two communities would merge.

Holy Family is now a monastery-in-transition, a quasi-dependent priory of Mount St. Benedict. As prioress of the Erie community, Sister Joan Chittister will be appointed canonical administrator of Holy Family by the president of the Federation of St. Scholastica. The present prioress, Sister Bernadette Ladner, will be appointed delegate-prioress.

Benet Lake is a small community of 21 Sisters with a median age of 70; Erie has 146 members with a median age of 52. Members from both communities will intermingle freely for ministry, service and personal needs. By Christmas two of the elderly infirm from Holy Family will take up residence in the Mount infirmary.

Because of increased membership and the growing need for infirmary care, a new wing, the joint venture of both communities, will be added to the Mount in the spring. A ground-blessing took place in October when the Benet Lake Council joined Erie for Community Weekend.

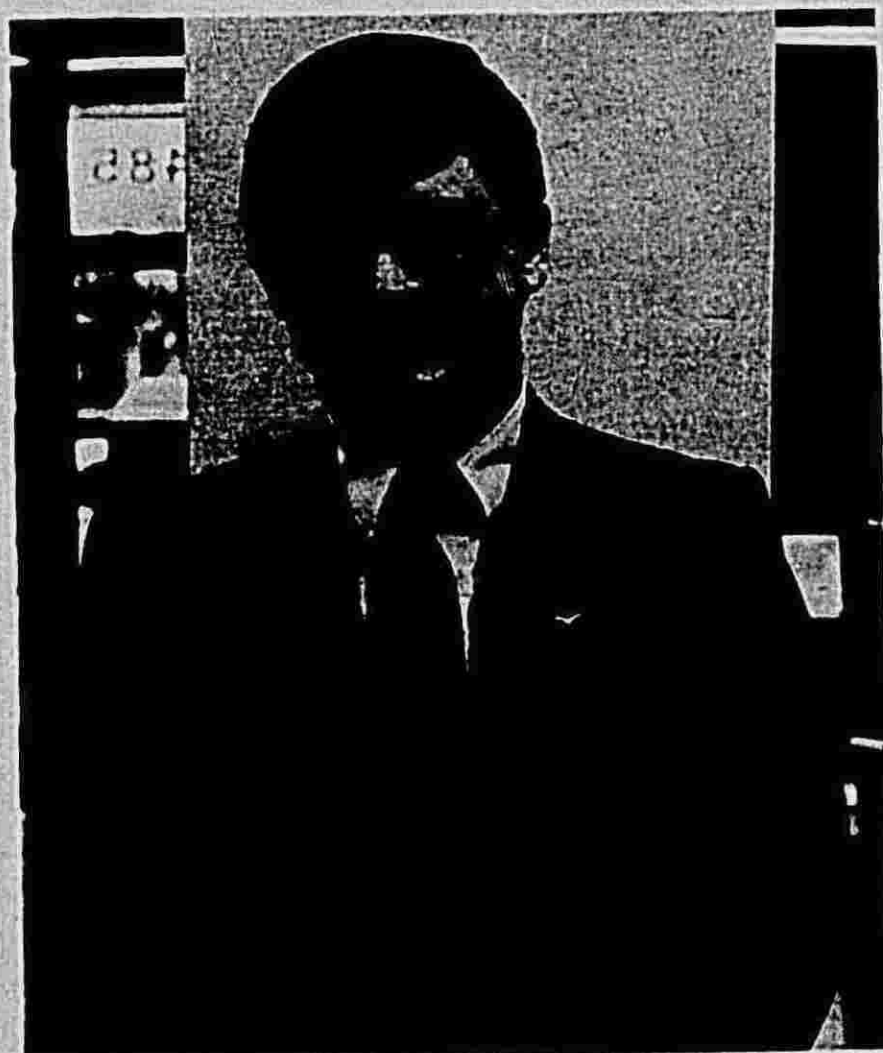

This autumn the Sisters at Benet Lake wrote to their Oblates, "In order to become strong and thriving, our community has become associated with the Benedictine Sisters in Erie. We feel that this forward step is maturing us to be more vibrant religious women...."

The Erie Benedictines welcome into their family their new Sisters from Benet Lake.

Marionette Show To Perform In Antioch

"The Cobbler and the Elves," an exciting concept of live actors and marionettes, will be presented on a panoramic television setting on Saturday, Dec. 13.

The story is about a poor cobbler who wanted to take the pretty ballerina to the king's ball. He couldn't make her any shoes, though, so he didn't look like he could go.

When he woke up the next morning, however, he found that the shoes had mysteriously appeared. He took the ballerina to the ball, but the shoes persisted in appearing each morning.

The rich cobbler and the ballerina marry, and eventually discover, to the delight of the elves, who is actually making the shoes. The skill of the marionette master will bring to life the charm of this story.

Bill Naumann, of Carousel Women's Apparel, and the Antioch Chamber of Commerce, are joining together to sponsor this show. Admission for the shows, which begin at 2 p.m. and then again at 3:30 p.m., is $2 for both children and adults.

The show will take place in the basement hall of St. Peter's Church in Antioch. Seating capacity is limited to 200 people, so seating will be conducted on a first come first serve basis.

Following each performance of the show, a short subject entitled "The Little Matchstick Girl" will be presented. After this subject, a marionette demonstration and explanation of how they operate will be conducted.

On Saturday, Dec. 20, have breakfast with Santa Claus at the Scout House on Main St., two blocks north of Depot St. The breakfast will last from 8 to 10:30 a.m.

22 Bundles Of Local Talent Ready To Perform

by GLORIA DAVIS

There is a very talented group of northeastern Lake County kids, ranging in age from 13 to 18, called "The American Pops." They work hard at developing their singing, dancing and acting talents. They are dying to perform for anyone and everyone.

But Alan Floor, Lake Villa, the group's founder and the show's producer, is having a hard time getting them "gigs" or performance dates.

Floor, who has a masters degree in music education, is a familiar name in the Lake Villa-Lindenhurst area where he masterminded the locally well-known "Rainbow Connection," besides directing a 250-student choral group.

Many of the kids now in "American Pop" are from that area, some former "Rainbowers." Others come from Antioch, Grayslake and Round Lake.

Every summer Floor holds a talent camp in Wisconsin which the kids pay $175 to attend. This is where they do their basic training.

The kids then pay $22 dues per month, which includes the cost of their costumes, to belong to "Pops."

They have two rehearsals a month, one with Floor on an individual basis, and the other with the entire company.

"We have a hard time finding an indoor place to perform in this area during the cold months. The show requires a 15 by 20 foot performance area and the "Pops" have performed for audiences ranging from 50 to 2,000 people.

The group has done many area benefit performances just to get exposure. They are very popular in Zion and have appeared at Lindenfest and Lake Villa Days.

"We need to perform to survive," says Floor who is getting frustrated in recent efforts in the "Pops" behalf.

Last month a sponsorship show, planned to acquaint community groups and local businesses with the "Pops", failed to draw much interest, so Floor has set another "free" show at Lake Villa Intermediate School on the Sunday, Feb. 1.

The "Pops" do a choral singing and dancing show, much in the same vein as the shows at Great America and those done by groups like "Up With People," and the "Kids From Wisconsin."

They have been contacted by "Star Search" and will be doing some auditioning for that tv show when its scouts come to Chicago in six months.

Meanwhile, they are most anxious to "do their thing" for community groups and or anyone who is a need of an hour of wholesome musical entertainment for a nominal fee.

"Pops" is presently a non-profit organization but Floor and his kids have aspirations towards working in the black.

Anyone who is interested or in need of the "Pops" services can call Floor at (312)395-SHOW.

Performing Pets Will Entertain Youngsters

The Young People's Room of Wauconda Twp. Library will present a pet show by Charlene Whitney and her animal friends from 3 to 3:45 p.m. on Thursday, Dec. 11.

All are invited to come and watch Whitney's delightful cats and dogs surprise and entertain their audience with their tricks.

Whitney's pets have performed throughout the Chicago area to the delight of audiences young and old.

Besides training her pets to perform, Whitney is a true animal lover who has rescued and raised abandoned and orphaned puppies and kittens.

Plan to attend after school on Dec. 11 for an enjoyable pre-holiday show.

Youngsters under five should be accompanied by a responsible older person.

Symphony Greet Holiday With Menotti's 'Amahl'

The Lake Forest Symphony welcomes the holiday season Sunday, Dec. 21 with a staged, fully costumed production of Gian Carlo Menotti's "Amahl and the Night Visitors".

"Amahl", the first opera ever commissioned for television, had its premiere on NBC Christmas Eve, 1951. Since then, the audience for each succeeding tv performance has been estimated at several million, thus, "Amahl" has probably been heard by more Americans than any other opera, certainly more than any other American opera.

As part of its annual Symphony Day program to bring music to young students, the Lake Forest Symphony has just presented nine performances of "Amahl" to over 6,000 students from 53 different schools, public, private and parochial, from 32 communities in the Chicago area. All performances were in the Drake Theatre.

"Amahl" tells the story of an impoverished widow and her crippled son, and what happens when three kings visit them.

Heading the distinguished cast is Nancy Sylvester, a Lake Forest resident, who has sung the role of the mother in over 50 performances, including the four productions presented by the symphony.

Over the years the role of Amahl has been sung by Robert Powers (1967), Bill Ver Meulen (1973), Rachael Pfyffe (1976), and Robert Hicks (1982).

This year Amahl will be portrayed by Randy Rowsey Jr. of Oak Park, and Michael Ferrin, a Lake Forest resident and student of the Deerpath Intermediate School.

Larissa and Jason Eastman, students at the Franklin Center for the Arts in Chicago and the school of the Chicago City Ballet, will appear as the dancers. Choreography is by Diana Harris, director of the Department of Dance for the Franklin Center of the Arts.

The production is directed by Robert Smith, who has sung with the Chicago Lyric Opera and throughout Chicago and the Midwest. He has frequently appeared with the symphony and is currently a faculty member of the Music Institute of Lake Forest.

Don Horisberger, director of the Waukegan Symphony Chorus, will direct members of the Lake Forest and Waukegan Symphony choruses.

Guest conductor is Richard Boldrey of the Lyric Opera.

There will be a 4:30 p.m. matinee and a 7:30 p.m. evening performance. The later performance will include the John Rutter "Gloria". Lobby caroling will be heard both shows.

The production will be presented at The Drake Theatre, Barat College, Lake Forest.

Tickets are on sale at Ticketron, (312)853-3636, and, The Deerpath Inn, Don's Finest Foods, Helanders and Smith's Men's Store. Call symphony office, (312)295-2135, for reservations and information. Group, student and senior rates available. Master and Visa cards accepted.

Orchestra To Play At Lakehurst

Holiday shoppers at the Lakehurst Mall are in for a festive treat. On two consecutive Sundays, Dec. 14 and Dec. 21, from 1 to 1:30 p.m., the Chain O'Lakes Orchestra will be delighting crowds with a program of favorite yuletide selections. All involved are proud to be a part of the opening of yet another concert season for our community's orchestra.

The Chain O'Lakes

Cultural Arts Assn., the organization which sponsors the orchestra, credits this season's opening to the dedication of orchestra members and their families, the direction and guidance of Timothy Montalvo, all the volunteers, and as always, the continued support of Georgia I. Cobb, the orchestra's founder.

Those with a love of music are always welcome to participate in the Chain O'Lakes Orchestra and its events. For information call Karen Nowak at (312)546-4561.

CLC To Form New Chorus

An Afro American Chorus is being organized by the College of Lake County's Lakeshore campus. Offered for credit, the course will focus on mixed choral arrangements by black composers incorporating classic repertoire, choral sight singing and vocal technique; music will include spirituals, contemporary gospel, jazz, show tunes and classical selections. The choir is open to the public. The class will be held from 7-9 p.m. on Wednesdays at the Lakeshore campus in Waukegan beginning Jan. 21. For further information call (312)223-8800.

Country Squire Slates Second Expansion Move

Country Squire Restaurant and Banquet Center, Grayslake, will be expanded in 1987 to provide the largest and most modern banquet facility in Lake County.

Announcement of the expansion was made by Mr. and Mrs. William Govas, owners, at a grand opening Christmas party for more than 300 guests Monday night, Dec. 8.

The expansion program, the second major addition in two years, is being finalized now by architects and contractors, according to Mr. and Mrs. Govas, with ground breaking taking place shortly after Jan. 1.

The addition will provide seating for 700 persons and will be built immediately south of the new Colonial-style banquet center that was opened in April, 1986.

The Govas said they wanted to share the news of the expansion as they enjoyed an evening of food and entertainment that included a mini-Broadway review.

"The acceptance of our banquet facility has been fantastic. We have parties booked into 1988," Mrs. Govas declared. "Our customers have been urging us to add another phase of growth, so that's what we decided to do."

'Miracle' Coming

The charming Christmas classic "Miracle on 34th Street" will be performed live onstage at the Genesee Theatre in Waukegan on Friday, Dec. 19 at 8 p.m.; Saturday, Dec. 20 at 3 and 8 p.m., and Sunday, Dec. 21 at 3 p.m.

Roger Bardwell, the veteran actor from Evanston, stars as the man who "believes" he is Santa Claus in this theatrical presentation by the Littlefort Lamplighters who support him with a cast of over 90 men, women and children.

The delightful story is a treat for the entire family. Prices are $5 for adults, $3 for children, and parking is free. Call (312) 336-0494 for ticket reservations.

Sunday's matinee will benefit many of Lake County's special children who will be given the toys that were donated to the production as "Macy's Merchandise."

Hot Stuff

When the temperature outside is 77 degrees fahrenheit and the relative humidity is 85 percent, it feels as hot as 97 degrees fahrenheit.

Singers To Set Holiday Concert

"Tell The World" singers, a contemporary Christian chorus sponsored by the Evangelical Free Church of Wauconda, will present a Christmas concert Saturday, Dec. 13 at Redwood Lodge.

The program will be preceded by dinner at 5:30 p.m. with the concert to follow at 7:30 p.m. in the Cross Timbers Auditorium. Tickets will be $8.50 per person for the banquet. Call and make reservations as the seats sell out fast for this event. Full advance payment will confirm reservations. Guests are limited to 250 persons, so call now.

Tell the World consists of 30 young men and women.

La Salette's Fest To Feature Surprise

On Dec. 21, a special surprise program is to be scheduled at LaSalette Shrine in Twin Lakes, during Festival of Lights. Don't miss it! Everyone will benefit most when on Christmas Eve they sit quietly before the manger or Christmas tree and answer a child's question: Why is this time so special?

Each year around this time, we hear about the controversy concerning the display of religious symbols. It is sad that for some it has become an opportunity for a fight.

This special time the "Holiday Season" is always emphasizing peace, a time for understanding and good will, a hope for a better tomorrow. Decorating homes and trees helps us into the spirit of the holiday season.

Everyone is invited to La Salette Shrine to enjoy a festival of glad tidings in honor of Christ the Light of the world.

Each evening from 5 to 9 p.m., thousands of lights invite all of us to become a child again. The first lighting of the Festival of Lights was the Sunday after Thanksgiving and the festival ends on Jan. 1.

Each Sunday evening at 6:30 p.m., at the hall, a special program of music or song is performed for all.

On Dec. 14 the Wilmet High School jazz ensemble will plan music selections.

Refreshments and snacks will be served only on weekends (Friday, Saturdays and Sundays during the festival.) Also on weekends fruit cakes, cookies, candies and religious gifts will be on sale.

Everyone is welcome to the La Salette's Festival of Lights with free parking and no admission charge. La Salette Shrine (10330-336th Ave.) is located on Kenosha County Hwy. 'KD' two and a half miles north of the Illinois/Wisconsin state line and two miles east of Twin Lakes.

Anyone having questions should not hesitate to call the Shrine number, (414)877-3111.

Fat Dogs Are More Prone To Health Problems

by CHARLENE WHITNEY

Many people believe that a dog gets fat just because it is spayed or neutered. This has nothing to do with the dog's weight.

Dogs get fat for the same reasons that people do. It's more of a combination of too much food (too many calories) and not enough exercise.

An older dog will often become fat because the number of calories needed has decreased. The exercise he gets has also been limited, but the same amount of food keeps coming to his dish.

About 40 percent of the dogs in the U.S. are overweight. An overweight dog can have many of the same health risks that overweight humans do. Some of these problems may be heart and lung disease, gastrointestinal disturbances, bone, joint and muscle problems and metabolic disorders.

Pet-Wise

Another problem is trying to perform surgery on fat dogs—it's a lot more difficult. A fat dog is also more likely to suffer ill effects from the anesthesia.

So it all points to the fact that excess weight on a dog can dramatically reduce its life expectancy.

It would be wise to slim down your pet or to work toward maintaining your fit dog's good shape.

Start by correcting your dog's eating habits. Have your veterinarian help you with your dog's diet and with an exercise program.

Many pets eat the right diet and normal size meals.

When you begin the exercise program, start out slowly and work it up. A couple of short walks a day will help you both. If he shows signs of getting tired, stop and let him rest.

Vigorous activities are too strenuous for elderly pets or out-of-shape pets. Also, overweight dogs and older dogs are more likely to easily become strained and suffer heart-stroke.

As you can see, it's most important to keep your pet fit and trim.

Makes Conference Presentation

Virginia Quane, a teacher at Carmel High School for Girls, demonstrated the Word Handler word processing software at the first Illinois Computing Educators statewide conference. Using the Apple IIe, Quane presented South-Western Publishing Co.'s Microcomputer Keyboarding program. The all-day conference included sessions on a wide variety of computer-related topics, including gradebook and newspaper production programs, library management, and software for a variety of subject matter areas.

Fashioned Holiday program. The event will run from noon to 4 p.m. at the Lake County Museum in the Lakewood Forest Preserve on Rte. 176 in Wauconda.

The program will consist of: ornament and card-making workshops, wagon ride with Santa, caroling, a bake sale, a gift shop full of Christmas goodies, and live folk music by Doug Miller and Bonnie Esacson-Miller of the Adler Cultural Center. The story of Androcles and the Lion will be presented by drama students from the College of Lake County. Admission for this very special program is $2 per person. The entertainment is being made possible by a grant from the Waukegan Area Arts Council. Museum staff members and volunteers will serve as Santa's elves and assist visitors in making holiday decorations.

Lake County Forest Preserve Dist. President Donald Strenger commented, "This is one of the museum's most popular programs. I urge families to make their reservations soon. The program is one not to be missed."

Reservations are required and can be made by calling (312) 526-7878. The Lake County Museum is open daily from 1 to 4:30 p.m. School tours may be arranged during the mornings. Admission fees are: adults, $1; students and seniors, 50 cents; museum association members and preschoolers are admitted free. Monday is a free day for all visitors. A gift shop is available.

Bring Back The Old Trolley Cars

Commentary

by GORDON CRANDALL

(Gordon Crandall, a native of Chicago, is a retired teacher and journalist. Since 1982 he has been a resident of Leisure Village in Fox Lake.)

The few times that I have to commute to the Loop and take a CTA bus from Union Station to State St. always makes me wonder why we ever abolished the old streetcars for these buses.

I long for the smooth riding trolley rails as my bus bounces down Jackson St., seeming to hit every pothole that it probably helped to make.

And if I sit near the rear of the bus, I get nauseated from the noxious fumes of the diesel motor.

Perhaps I am longing for an anachronism of modern times, especially for those persons under 35 years of age, which is about the time our streetcars were considered passe. If I sound like a dinosaur, so be it.

However, for the education of our youth and for the nostalgia of old-timers, let me expand on the virtues of the dear departed trolleys and on the defects, as I see them, of our current buses. In my opinion, the trolleys served the public better transportation because:

-They operated on electric power, hence none of the noxious fumes that buses emit. Ipso facto, much less pollution in the urban environment. Also, a great gasoline conservation mode of transportation (more on this fact later) which may become a factor someday.

-Since the trolley tracks were in the middle of the streets, cars and trucks could get around them easier, so there was a smoother traffic flow.

-They had better security. A lone bus driver cannot operate a bus and also observe violations of smoking, drinking and vandalism behind him. Most streetcars had two men—a driver and a conductor. This way, one concentrated on driving while the other collected fares and checked on passenger decorum and safety.

-Snow removal was facilitated because most of the older streetcars could have plows attached to their front. We used to call these frontal attachments "cow-catchers."

The newer, longer "Green Hornet" streetcars that operated after World War II seated many more persons than today's buses, also both the seats and the aisles were wider. Have you ever tried to squeeze your way through the narrow aisles of a bus packed with people? These cars were about 100 feet long, with entrance at the rear and exit at the middle door.

In my opinion, the ventilation was much better on the streetcars. Of course, we didn't have the gasoline fumes. Also, the pre-Green Hornet cars had the conductor in a separate platform from the passengers by a sliding glass door. Whenever new passengers entered the car and pulled open the door, a gust of fresh air entered from outside. And we didn't need any air conditioning, for these windows could be raised and lowered.

As mentioned before, the streetcar ride was smoother, for the rails do not have potholes. There were less jerks and quick, jolting stops than the buses have.

A concomitant advantage of trolleys: In nice weather, the conductor's platform was usually open, so if you were young and adventurous and in a hurry, you could jump on the steps of the platform while the car was moving away, rather than wait for the next one. Today, if you run for a bus, you are more likely to get the door slammed in your face.

You can get a headache from riding in the back of these buses from the fumes of their diesel motors. And if you happen to be standing behind a bus when it pulls out, you had better not breathe in the gaseous smoke it belches forth.

I truly believe that the powers-that-be made a big faux pas at the public's expense when they did away with the venerable streetcars. It is another manifestation of America's total decline in all rail transportation. Much of Europe is still dependent on rail traffic, or, at the least, electric buses connected to trolley lines.

One final advantage of electric transit over the gas guzzlers is the reduced cost of operation. Electric power is not only cheaper than using gasoline and oil, but also vehicle maintenance is much less. So the riders would benefit further in reduced fares. (Historical note: back in the 30's, streetcar fare in Chicago was seven cents for adults, three cents for kids, with unlimited transfer.)

Now let me make a prediction, although I probably won't be around to see it come true. If and when the world's oil supplies are finally depleted—as they must inevitably be the way we are squandering that fossil fuel—perhaps in the 21st century, then those miles and miles of car rails buried under concrete may be unearthed. And the historic streetcars will be brought out from museums and junkyards to run again and save the day.

Fantastic, you say? Well, I hope somebody buries this article in some future Time Capsule of a building. So, a few hundred years hence, some future Americans can read this and say, "Old Gordy was right; those dumb politicians of the 20th century should never have covered those rails and torn down those trolley lines."

And, hopefully, from the Big Sky Yonder I will be smiling in complete agreement.

Allendale Aids Children With Emotional Problems

Eric is his name. He arrived at Allendale five years ago when he was 11. Physically abused by his father, neglected and abused by his mother, was there hope?

The Allendale staff thought so when the referral was made. He was placed in one of Allendale's three specialized units for children with special needs. An intensified one-on-one counseling program, supplemented by the special education and therapeutic recreation program, soon brought results.

Eric began to come out of his shell. He no longer appeared to be that neglected and abused young boy, but a child who now had people who cared about him. He was no longer the subject of abuse.

The members of the residential center staff began intensified family therapy and worked with both his mother and father. Just this past July, Eric went home; home to his mother and father who, just a short five years ago, abused him to the extent that he became terrified and needed extensive care, treatment, and special education, and his family required extensive counseling and therapy.

Today, with the help of our Outreach staff who provide continual family counseling and aftercare, Eric has become a reunited member of his family and of his community.

He now attends a special education school in his hometown, and is relating as any teenager would with his new friends and classmates. All of this was made possible because people cared!

People just like you cared to share in this work through making a personal contribution to Allendale to help support our work on behalf of these emotionally troubled children and their families.

If you are a first time supporter of our program, you will find yourself amongst a group of our supporters who are proud to say "they are members of the Allendale family" who all share the joy of seeing children, like Eric, get a new lease on life.

Bob Neal Is Big Winner In County Board Shuffle

by CAHRLS JOHNSTON
Managing Editor

THE BIG WINNER in the county board reorganization may very well be Republican Party chairman, Bob Neal. The regulars under his leadership will now hold effective control of all the important committees on the board.

than 700 signatures on nominating petitions.

Some have wondered if this constitutes a conflict of interest. I don't think it does, but I suspect that "Geo" will want to get an official opinion from the attorney general's office to put to rest any questions.

The thing I'm really in front of her car and say, "Do you know me..."

NOW FOR THIS week's blockbuster. The regular Republicans are successful in large part because they think ahead. And they're thinking ahead right now.

After losing a close race for the Lake County Clerk's office, the word is out that Barbara Richardson, provided that she coasts to re-election as coroner in two years, will get the regular Republican's nod for county clerk.

Richardson has kept a relatively low profile and would make a tough candidate. I think, though, that if Republicans wanted to get real serious about getting that office back, they should talk to former State Rep. Betty-Lou Reed.

No doubt, I will get some feedback on this item, but it came from an unimpeachable source.

EMPLOYEES AND MANAGEMENT seem to be getting further apart in negotiations to settle a disputed contract at the News-Sun.

You may have noticed that regular staff members at the paper are not putting their byline on stories and some of the column heads, such as that of Ralph Zahorik, have been pulled and replaced with one entitled, "Lake County Column." This is because newsroom employees have gone on a byline strike until negotiations reach a successful completion.

Newsroom employees have now sent out pledge cards that would allow them to cancel subscriptions later on if negotiations do not progress.

Quite frankly, it makes me a little nervous to talk about this. It's kind of like airing out a family dispute that you wish would simply go away. The News-Sun is a competitor of ours, but no one likes to see this sort of thing drag on. We would prefer just to compete, understanding that there is plenty of room out there for both of us.

Newsroom employees have set up strike headquarters in Waukegan, telephone (312) 336-2706.

Meantime, the next two years promise to be very controversial. The debate over landfills, criticism of the county's settlement of Heartland, and a debate on zoning and development in the county are not going to go away. In almost all of these issues, Jim LaBelle has been out front, taking what are, in many areas, very unpopular positions. Neal has helped to engineer many of the decisions, but has stayed in the background.

This puts Neal in a position to gauge how deep public sentiment is on the issues. If it is hot enough, he can back off, finesse a more politic settlement, and let LaBelle take the fall.

There is no love lost between the party regulars and Jim LaBelle. Frankly, there is a struggle that has gone on for the last four years for ultimate control of the board. It will continue for another two, but after the next election, it should be settled for at least two years.

The players in this struggle are the regular Republicans and the coalition of independent Republicans and Democrats. Neither faction has had the votes to put their own man in as chairman and dominate the board.

The election of 1988 will be a real doozy. Neal and the regulars are at a disadvantage because they have more seats to defend than the independents do. After a rough couple of years, though, Neal's political skills have sharpened considerably. Two years ago, Neal would have made a big deal out of minor things to the extent that they would overshadow what is really important. This year, he did not make a big deal out of censuring Mike Graham for supporting Democrats, but simply put out the notice of censure and moved on. He did not try for a caucus of Republicans that was doomed to failure before the start, thus creating a public relations disaster as happened two years ago. He held his cards close to the vest, and played them at the last minute when he could get something for them.

He got control of the committees and a convenient fall guy in Jim LaBelle for whatever goes wrong in the next two years.

The coalition of independent Republicans and Democrats should be able to take solid control of the board in two years, but only if they are as organized and show the same strategic judgment as the regulars.

STATE SEN. ADELINE Geo-Karis announced Monday that she will be a candidate for Mayor of Zion. Her supporters got more curious about is what do we call her if she is elected? Do we call her Senator Mayor or Mayor Senator? Most of her supporters will solve that question by simply continuing to call her "Geo."

I wonder if her old Buick will get another workout for this campaign. Staff volunteers are undoubtedly repainting it even as you read this. General Motors is probably missing a good bet by not having her do a commercial. She could stand

How Lake County Lost In Race Track Deals

by STEVE PETERSON

A roomful of reporters gathered from two states that warm summer's day in June to hear Gov. James Thompson, Arlington Park owner Dick Duchossois and a cadre of local officials tell of plans for a Lake County race track.

Each official approached the podium at the Lake County Building in Waukegan, praising the proposal as the best thing for Lake County's economy since the coming of the railroad.

"It's Lake County's turn. It's Illinois' turn," Thompson said.

Six months later, Lake County is the big loser in a deal struck between Thompson, Duchossois and the Democrats who control the Illinois House of Representatives. The deal rebuilds the race track at the original Arlington Park site and grants the Chicago White Sox a new stadium across the street from Comiskey Park.

"Obviously, we're extremely disappointed. We had all voted for the package in hopes that Mr. Duchossois would re-calculate and decide to build in Lake County," State Rep. Bob Churchill (R-62) said after returning from Springfield.

Churchill said Duchossois looked at two main points in the rebuilding issue: minimizing risk and maximizing return.

Back in June, Duchossois' interests included rebuilding the Arlington Park race track and getting reforms passed for the Illinois racing industry, Churchill said.

"He was making a capital investment on a $675 million world class race track. For the rest of the track owners, anything else was just gravy," Churchill said.

A racing reform package was presented to the legislature in June for a vote. A conference committee proposal included a provision that no reform would take place unless a track was built on the Old Mill Creek site in Lake County.

However, the issue was never called to a vote by House Speaker Mike Madigan (D-Oak Park).

Legislative negotiators, in talks during the fall veto session, then gave the track owners off-track betting in the form of three off-track betting sites per track. That number was later reduced to two.

Churchill said Lake

County legislators needed the votes of Cook County Democrats to get the racing package through and that is when the Lake County site fell by the wayside.

"From day one the Democrats said they wanted racing reform. I'd call their negotiations a process of extraction," Churchill said.

The Democrats sought to remove such key financial items as "breakage" and a two percent tax break to all racetracks.

Also, the Democrats had the Chicago Park Dist. being funded as part of the package. That came under a provision which called for funding percentage for city's with over 500,000 or more with museums or parks.

Churchill said when Thompson found out about that portion of the plan and Duchossois' near backing out of the proposal, he offered the package that was ultimately passed.

Duchossois gained a two percent tax break for only Arlington Park while Chicago Mayor Harold Washington and the Democrats got a baseball stadium for the White Sox.

And the 700 acres in Old Mill Creek will remain status quo.

State Senator David Barkhausen (R-30) said the legislation passed neglects Lake County.

"The outcome is all the more disappointing, considering the promise held out last spring that the relief for the horse racing industry would mean a world-class track in Lake County," Barkhausen said.

Barkhausen said the problem was that much of the tax relief was retracted at the local level by allowing local governments to share in the revenue from off-track betting parlors.

"Rather than simply granting tax relief and incentives for the improvement of horse racing, the Democrats insisted on substituting local taxes for state taxes," Barkhausen said.

Barkhausen said the old plan would have brought more economic impact for the state.

"But the Democrats' short-sighted interest in raising additional local taxes has denied us this additional investment," the senator said.

Second Time Around No Charm For President

by JOHN STEINKE
(Political Columnist)

The attractions of the presidency are obvious. The pay is good and you do not have to do any heavy lifting. And who else can fly around in his own private airliner, get 50-yard-line seats at any football game in the country, chat at will with prime ministers and rock stars, and march into a thousand banquet halls to the stirring strains of "Hail to the Chief?" It is pretty heady stuff.

Steinke On Politics

Nearly all the chief executives that we most admire have made their mark in their first terms, which in turn virtually guaranteed their re-election. It is not as much fun the second time around. Problems tend to pile up the longer a president is in office. Second terms are considerably less impressive than the first. Presidents accomplish less, never more, during their second terms.

George Washington started this trend. After a laudible launching of the Republic, George Washington's second term was clouded by the Whiskey Insurrection at home and foreign policy problems. One month after Washington began his second term, the aftermath of the French Revolution sharply divided the young nation between partisans of England and France. The unpopular Jay Treaty with Britain angered the country.

By the time he left office in 1797, the President, who twice received all the votes cast in the electoral college, had grown bitter toward opposition politicians and newspapers that attacked him with a vehemence unknown today. The day Washington returned to private life, the Philadelphia Aurora declared "this day ought to be a jubilee in the United States... for the man who is the source of all the misfortunes of our country, is the day reduced to a level with his fellow citizens."

Thomas Jefferson's first term was glorious with the Louisiana Purchase (1803), which doubled the nation's territorial size. Controversial foreign policy matters with Britain and France caught up with Jefferson in his second term, as well as rebellion in his own party. His Embargo Act (1807) infuriated the public by curtailing trade with Europe. Jefferson slithered from the capitol weeks before his successor's inauguration. That successor, James Madison, was consistently disappointing in office, even more so after his re-election. The second-term blues plagued James Madison during the War of 1812 with Great Britain. The U.S. Army was battered and the national capitol was burned to the ground during "Mr. Madison's War." The New England states threatened succession, and there were cries for his resignation as Madison retired from office.

An Era of Good Feelings emerged from the end of the War of 1812 to the mid-1820s, when one party overwhelmed the American electorate. A surge of nationalism helped James Monroe garner all but 34 electoral votes in 1816 and all but one in 1820. This mentality was reflected by President Monroe's first inaugural address, which stressed "how close our government has approached to perfection; that in respect to it we have no essential improvement to make." Monroe found initial success in expanding the nation (by purchasing Florida) and preserving its unity (by the Missouri Compromise of 1820.) The Monroe Doctrine was his sole second-term accomplishment, and one that he personally had little to do with. It was Secretary of State John Quincy Adams, who drafted this policy statement opposing any European recolonization in the Western Hemisphere.

(First of a series.)

Last Thursday, I had a pleasant surprise when State Rep. Judy Koehler (R-Henry) telephoned me. She expressed her appreciation for my pre-election column endorsing her senatorial candidacy over Democratic incumbent "Al the Pal" Dixon. Koehler garnered over one million votes in her unsuccessful campaign against Sen. Alan J. Zero. Koehler, who is retiring from the Illinois General Assembly, intends to run for statewide office again. She may field a candidacy for delegate to the 1988 Republican National Convention. Mrs. Koehler wants the GOP to nominate a presidential candidate "who will espouse conservative principles." She anticipates that "the (Illinois) party establishment" will support Vice-President George Bush for the 1988 presidential nomination. Judy Koehler has one major weakness as statewide nominee: She has integrity. Illinois voters are accustomed to electing wheeler-dealers like "Cut-A-Deal" Dixon. What a tragedy!

Donate Diesel Engine

Two diesel engines were donated to Lake Land College by the Lake County Vocational Center, Grayslake. They are an International Harvester 414 truck engine and an Allis Chalmers 11,000 series industrial implement engine. They will be used in both the classroom and the diesel lab, working as fully operational engines.

"The engines will be used for testing and diagnosis, as well as being 'bugged' to test student's troubleshooting skills," said Ken Drollinger, agriculture mechanic instructor.

"The donation of the diesel engines exemplifies the cooperative efforts between area vocational centers and statewide community colleges that offer diesel technology programs. Lake Land students will now have a broader base in training opportunities."

Airport Cooperation

A landmark development in Illinois general aviation is taking place with the public acquisition of a private airport by two neighboring municipalities. Changing economics and increasing land values have made it virtually impossible for private owners to maintain airport ownership. Aviation authorities are recommending that public entities step in to acquire airports that are important to both transportation and the economy, especially in the suburban area around Chicago.

One of the airports caught in the squeeze of rising land values and rising taxes is Campbell Airport, a general aviation facility located south of Round Lake Park and Grayslake. The Campbell situation with two adjacent municipalities is almost identical to north Cook County's Palwaukee Airport, the state's second busiest airport (after O'Hare) where two neighboring municipalities are working together to move the airport from private to public ownership. The acquisition process has been underway for nearly two years with the latest development Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) approval of a $6.5 million grant to Prospect Heights and Wheeling as a partial purchase fee. An earlier grant of just over $7 million, approved in August, is being used to upgrade Palwaukee to meet FAA operational standards.

Purchase of Palwaukee by Wheeling and Prospect Heights hasn't been easy with a good bit of opposition being generated within both communities. But as Prospect Heights Mayor Jack Gilligan put it: "We can fill a room with all the strings that are attached, but Palwaukee is a major economic generator for us. We do not want to see that go away." We have the same feelings about Campbell. We don't want to see Campbell "go away." That's why this newspaper has supported efforts of Round Lake Park with Mayor George Scherer as the prime mover to acquire the private airport.

For Palwaukee, the federal government will cover 90 percent of the purchase, the state will pay five percent and the two towns will split the remaining five percent.

Private general aviation airports are an endangered species. By the year 2000, the Illinois Dept. of Transportation predicts only 12 percent of the present 21 airports, down from 47 in 1946, will remain. It is worth considering that Round Lake Park might want to consider asking Grayslake to join in the effort to acquire Campbell. Palwaukee is showing the way.

Drunk Busters Add Member For Holidays

by BILL SCHROEDER

I'm an official, card carrying "Drunk Buster," thanks to Officer Thomas L. Judd, coordinator of a growing program designated to make our roadways safer by curbing drunk drivers and reducing the number of persons who drink and drive.

Drunk Busters have the obligation to report suspected drunk drivers to police. They also have taken on the responsibility of helping educate the public on the dangers of driving while under the influence of alcohol or drugs.

With the holiday season at hand, police are pushing awareness of DUI perils. Drunk Busters is the public involvement arm of RIDD (Remove Intoxicated and Drugged Drivers) advanced for three-and-a-half years by the Round Lake Beach Police Dept., one of Lakeland's largest law enforcement agencies.

Officer Judd said that Drunk Busters are requested to submit their card number at the same time as reporting DUI suspect. This enables RIDD officials to extend additional recognition.

The RIDD campaign, highlighted by Drunk Busters, has been an unqualified success. Since its institution, there have been no traffic fatalities in Round Lake Beach. Judd said the number of serious personal injury accidents can be counted on one finger.

Judd can be contacted at (312) 546-2137 to provide additional information on Drunk Busters and RIDD.

Overblown Scandal

Editor,

A great deal has been said about the "scandalous" shipment of arms to Iran. How much is true will be very hard to determine. There are several points I would like to raise which have not received much coverage in the media three-ring circus surrounding the Iran connection.

1) It is naive to imagine that Iran and Iraq could carry on a large-scale war for six years without receiving arms shipments from a variety of sources. Huge amounts of parts, weapons and other material must be supplied to the combatants by the world arms pipeline. Surely the U.S. and other nations have, one way or another, been sending necessary items to Iran and Iraq for some time.

2) It is in our national interest to keep the Iran-Iraq conflict raging. The instability of oil-producing countries (OPEC) since the war began has resulted in better economic conditions for the West due to decreased petroleum prices. Further, the commitment of Iranian lunatics to a holy war against Iraq consumes resources and personnel which might otherwise be turned against the U.S. or other Western powers.

3) If it is possible to contact anti-Khomeini elements within Iran, with the goal being to remove the present Iranian government in favor of a pro-Western one, this should at least be tried. Shipments of weapons, etc. to rebel forces within Iran is a course of action which must be closely considered and monitored. If anti-Hitler Germans could have been contacted and armed in 1940, the result might have been dramatic.

Repeal Resolution

Editor:

Recently, a resolution was passed by the Lake County Board, urging the Congress of the United States to pass legislation that would ban the importation and manufacture of plastic firearms. Whoever suggested this legislation apparently did not do their homework, for there is no such thing as a "plastic" firearm.

There is a nine-millimeter pistol marketed called the Glock 17 that is made in Austria, and has been adopted by that nation as its service pistol. Additionally, several other countries have adopted it as well. It is fabricated of steel and given a protective covering of a plastic-like substance that is designed to reduce friction, but more importantly, to protect it from rust and corrosion. It contains 82 percent metal, and 18 percent plastic polymers. It is readily located by existing metal detectors.

By passing that resolution, the Lake County Board is addressing a problem that simply does not exist. A resolution that is passed without study and in haste often will turn out to be inadvisable. That is certainly the case here. As a resident of Lake County, and one familiar with the issues, I would respectfully request that the Board review and repeal that resolution.

Should any legislation regarding firearms arise, I would respectfully request the Board ask for input from the National Rifle Assn. and the Illinois State Rifle Assn.

Against Landfills

Editor:

This letter is intended to provide you with my views concerning the proposed expansion of ARF Corp.'s landfill operation south on Rte. 83, as well as Waste Management's desire to install a 250 ton/day garbage incinerator near Peterson Rd. and Rte. 83. I am a pharmacist/chemical engineer who is familiar with these issues, and consequently I feel qualified to speak on the technical aspects of these proposals.

Because of their proximity to major population centers, these particular sites are not well-suited for either solid waste disposal or disposal by incineration. The current ARF Landfill site near Grayslake, in my opinion, should never have been approved. In addition to possible leaching of toxic contaminants into aquifers, these solid waste plants have been known to emit airborne particulates which can pollute the air with large numbers of potentially pathogenic organisms. (See "Pathogens associated with solid waste processing, U.S. EPA, report SW-49r, 1971, Mirdza L. Peterson.) Both types of disposal sites should be located in remote and sparsely populated areas to decrease the likelihood of adverse effects on large numbers of citizens. We simply don't know all the potential dangers associated with solid waste disposal. Reliable data is scanty. Therefore, it is only prudent to locate these facilities where potential exposure to humans is minimized.

The proposed incinerator facility is especially troublesome. Solid wastes may potentially contain any of the solid materials found in nature in addition to all man-made materials. They, therefore, constitute the most heterogeneous collection of substances possible. While laws and ordinances may prohibit certain materials from being put into the solid-wastes stream, they cannot guarantee that prohibited substances might not appear. Domestic refuse has, with alarming frequency, been found to contain highly toxic substances. In other words, we just don't know the composition.

Incinerators of this type contain all the dangerous characteristics of an industrial processing plant involving the mechanical handling of extremely varied materials. In addition to the ordinary sulfur dioxide, total suspended particulate matter, carbon monoxide and nitrogen oxides, the combustion products from these incinerators may contain poisonous gases such as those resulting from combustion of plastics such as urethanes and vinyls. The possibilities are infinite in this regard.

While some monitoring of these facilities does occur, it is probably inadequate. Reliable tests are available to monitor sulfur dioxide, total suspended particulate matter, carbon monoxide, etc. But what about the innumerable potentially poisonous gases likely to be emitted at one time or the other, or possibly continuously? Do we want these unknown pollutants spewed undiluted over our densely populated neighborhoods?

Our mutual goal must be to seek a more prudent approach to solid waste disposal in our area than these two imprudent proposals.

Rap Not Deserved

Editor:

You do well in your editorial on school reform to express disappointment in the failure of legislation to advance the cause of unit districts. You might have pointed out that in addition to higher unit costs, dual districts create the nearly impossible task of coordinating high school and elementary school programs. A high school like ours with four principal feeder schools must work with a committee for over a year to achieve even a slight degree of coordination in a single subject area.

But your bum rap of the school report on school performance, required by school reform legislation is not deserved. In my opinion, after years on a school board, it is a great step forward in making schools more accountable for their performance to parents and to taxpaying non-parents.

I dispute your assertion that most schools were already doing a better job with annual reports. Some schools do not issue annual reports and those that do color them to their own advantage. They are much to be noted for what they hide as what they disclose—typical annual reports.

Never before the required school report cards has it been possible from printed documents of each school to make meaningful comparisons of schools' performance.

The newspapers of general circulation (excepting most of the local press) have seized upon the school report cards to make comparisons and report them to the public in readable form. These comparisons should generate a spirit of competition and motivate better performance—the same spirit of competition as exists on athletic playing fields has long been needed in academics.

Heretofore it would have taken hours of digging to get comparable information from schools and their sometimes reluctant administrators. I know from experience in gathering it.

To select a few samples of what is revealed by the state required report cards that would not likely be revealed in annual reports: Round Lake in an annual report that accompanies its required state report card says, "we are fairly average in most comparisons with the rest of the state." The state report cards of nine high schools in central Lake County (Lake Forest, Stevenson, Libertyville, Lake Zurich, Wauconda, Warren, Grayslake, Mundelein and Round Lake) show Round Lake to have by far the poorest ACT test scores and their average is much below the state average. And the state report card shows better than any likely annual

Christmas Decorations Are Hard Habit To Break

by MARK BENNO

Joe is a friend of mine, and when he sits back in his recliner at home to chat, no one would ever guess that there was anything wrong with him. In fact, for 11 months out of the year he seems as normal and average as anybody else.

But then the Christmas season rolls around.

"I started collecting Christmas decorations and trinkets when I was about six," recalls Joe. "The first one I ever brought home was a Santa made out of pipe cleaners. When I brought that thing home, it went on the tree as quick as I could get it there."

The cascade of Christmas baubles didn't stop there, however. Joe found out an early age that he had a problem: he just couldn't stop making and collecting corny little Christmas decorations.

"Oh, sure, you never think it's you with the problem," says Joe. "I mean, it's so hard to imagine that I'm actually addicted to these cheap Christmas knick-knacks."

I asked Joe when he really knew that he was hooked. "That would be in seventh grade. We had a Christmas decoration contest, and I came in second. I was completely astounded, since I had spent more time on my gold-colored macaroni Christmas tree than anybody else.

"From that moment on it became an obsession for me. I had an ivy-covered monkey on my back, and there was no getting rid of him. I was determined that no one would ever make or keep more tacky decorations than me."

And Joe succeeded, in a manner of speaking. His basement is a catalogued library of cloths-pin reindeer and egg shell tree ornaments. Many are broken and smashed, but the thought of parting with them makes Joe cringe.

"Give them up! Are you crazy?" says Joe. "I spent the better part of my life assembling this menagerie. In fact, among my peers, I'm considered the leading specialist on the coordination of plastic ivy and fake holly."

Sadly, Joe is not alone in this struggle against old yellow Christmas things that always look like they're about to fall apart but never do. Millions of Americans suffer from what psychologists term as the "Kringle" syndrome.

Victims of the Kringle syndrome have several obvious symptoms. The first is an unexplainable desire to gather items like a jar full of little glass ornaments, despite the fact that there are probably three or four just like it at home.

Kringle syndromers are also marked by an inability to notice when a Christmas decoration is so beat up that it should be thrown away. "I can tell that a lot of my things are useless," says Joe, "but when you've put your heart into something, especially when you're a kid, how do you part with it?"

Perhaps the most vicious symptom of Kringle syndrome, though, is the victim's persistent desire to focus the attention of family and guest on the waxy Christmas decorations. Joe agrees.

"Certainly, when the family is over for the holidays, I tend to push my decorations on them. I can tell that I'm forcing the issue with them, but I simply can't stop from parading my Christmas creations."

That's the key phrase for most Kringle syndromers: they want to stop, but they can't.

Fortunately, help is on the horizon. A new campaign is spreading across America. Boosted by the support of concerned citizens across the country, Kringle victims are learning how to "Just Say No" to more Christmas clutter.

"It's pretty hard at first, I won't kid you," admits Joe, "since it's a habit you've clung to all your life. But they've got good people to help you along."

Joe's right. Kringle deprogrammers are popping up everywhere in response to the growing number of victims. These deprogrammers follow certain well-planned steps in their anti-Kringle effort.

"The first thing they did was make me throw away at least 10 Christmas decorations," says Joe. "I can't believe how hard it was. I cried at first, but after it was all over, I really felt relieved."

Surprisingly, Joe is one of the lucky ones. He found out on his own that he had a Christmas problem. Most people aren't as aware as Joe.

"There's this one guy in my therapy group who still thinks there's nothing wrong," muses Joe. "He says he's just there for kicks, and that he could walk away from his attic crammed with trinkets whenever he wants to. I don't believe him."

That's why it's up to the family and friends of Kringle syndromers to stand up and make some noise. Instead of smiling politely and wishing you were somewhere else the next time someone you know drags out the "Christmas box," take them by the arm and talk with them, tell them how much you care, and let them know you want them to lick this problem.

"It sure would have helped me," says Joe. "I wish someone would have told me sooner. I feel so embarrassed, that for all these years I was oblivious to a problem that stuck out like a burnt out Christmas bulb."

By just saying no, countless Americans are kicking the Kringle habit. It certainly won't happen overnight, but the correct steps are being taken. It's an issue that, at last, has been pulled out of the dusty closet with all its glitter and tinsel torn away.

"You really can do it," urges Joe, "just say no. The next time you're about to hang a sparkly pine cone on the tree, say no, and throw it away. But if that doesn't work, say to heck with the whole thing, and go crazy in the middle of a thousand schmaltzy baubles and decorations."

Poor Joe. Do you know anybody like him?

Your Dog, Cat Need Play Time

By Charlene Whitney

Of any class of animals, the mammals play more. They also spend a longer period of time with their mother.

The play of a puppy or kitten helps them to develop muscle skills and endurance. It helps them to stay fit and learn predatory skills needed for survival when he becomes an adult.

If you can take at least 15 minutes a day to play with your pet, it can improve the quality of your pet's life. It can also deepen the bond between the two of you. This will prove to be relaxing for both of you. That little friend of yours will provide a lot of fun.

Play is not just for pups and kittens, but grown dogs and cats love it as well. They

Pet-Wise

Your cat will have play behavior that teaches stalking, chasing, and pouncing. The cat learns to adapt his speed, change his direction, and lots more.

The dog charges after a ball or stick, leaps and runs after things. He improves his strength and endurance.

When pups or kittens play with other litter mates, they learn proper play behavior. They learn to control how hard they bite. The kittens also learn to retract their claws during play.

Young animals spend a lot of time and energy playing together. They will wrestle, chase, and leap at one another.

However, sometimes a playful fight can become the real thing. One will usually withdraw and end the play for the time being. They may start to play again right away.

Play is just as important as eating, sleeping, and being well groomed. Besides, play is fun.

also need to stay fit and have that special bond with you. Be sure and keep the play fun, not rough.

When a dog wants to play, he'll give signs such as tugging on your pants, stretching into a bow, leaping, dodging, nudging you with his nose, or perhaps even giving a paw, like shaking hands. He'll love a game of frisbee, tag, fetch, or keep-away.

When your cat wants to play, he'll give signs such as approaching you with a loose and bouncy gait, pounce on a playmate, slap a paw or rub against a play partner. Let your cat take the lead in your play. He'll enjoy chasing a string, ball and other objects. Playing in and out of a paper bag (not plastic) is another fun game.

Be sure you don't over do the play. Stop before your pet is hot and/or tired. Keep play time fun and enjoy each other.

Hold Artists' Contest For Design Of 1988 Duck Stamp

Illinois artists have from March 31 through April 6 to submit entries in the 1988 Migratory Waterfowl Hunting Stamp contest, according to Curt Bloome, Conservation Dept. contest coordinator.

The contest is co-sponsored by the Dept. of Conservation and Illinois Chapter of Ducks Unlimited to select artwork to appear on the 1988 issue of Illinois' Migratory Waterfowl Hunting Stamp, commonly known as the "Duck Stamp," Bloome said. Entries will be displayed at the State of Illinois Center, 100 W. Randolph St., Chicago, from April 8 through 10 with judging to take place April 10.

In addition to having his artwork appear on next year's Duck Stamp, Bloome said, the winning artist will receive a $1,000 purchase award and 100 artist proofs. In addition, the artist will be paid $10 per remarked print, up to a limit of 200 prints. Runners up will receive $100, $75, $50 and $25 for second, third, fourth and fifth places, respectively.

The subject for the contest is the common goldeneye, a diving duck known for the whistling sound of its wings in flight. Hunters say they often hear the goldeneye long before they see it. With striking plumage and distinctive head, the goldeneye is a popular subject among wildlife artists.

"The state duck stamp contest is a prestigious art competition," Bloome said. "Winning it is a real feather in any artist's cap. Several wildlife artists have established their reputations by placing at the top of the duck stamp competition." Artists interested in entering the contest may contact Bloome at the Dept. of Conservation, Office of Public Information, 524 S. Second St., Springfield, 62706, phone (217) 782-7454, for entry forms and complete information.

Salmon Recipe May Vary

I had visions of crispy salmon steaks. What you see, though, isn't necessarily so.

In the name of nutrition, I succeeded in getting my family to eat fish at least once a week. I almost blew it when the fish didn't come out as crispy as advertised.

You see, most of my family prefers fish fried more than broiled. Moist, flaky fish isn't exactly their cup of tartar sauce.

I got a good price on the fresh salmon steaks from the fish market right in the supermarket I frequent the most. Salmon doesn't have to come in the can, if you're lucky, nor does it have to be shaped into a patty.

The combination of crushed saltines and potato chips sounded like a good idea, but next time I'll use bread crumbs. In addition, I'll beat an egg into the melted butter so the crumbs stick better than the saltines and chips did.

I might even dust the fish with flour.

Actually, you can follow all these steps for a more crispy fish.

You can't, however, increase the broiling time.

If you're like me, you'll scrape away the outer covering and enjoy the moist, flaky fish.

Salmon Steaks

½ cup melted butter
pinch each of salt and black pepper

3 salmon steaks, about 1½ pounds
½ cup crushed saltine crackers
½ cup crushed potato chips
lemon wedges

Pilot Light

Combine butter, salt and pepper. Wipe fish with damp cloth. Dip each salmon steak in butter mixture, roll in combination of saltines and potato chips and arrange in greased shallow baking pan. Broil six inches from heat source about five minutes, turn over and broil six-and-a-half minutes. Serve with lemon wedges. Can scrape off coating. Serves three.

A Neat Eater

Before eating, a racoon washes its food in the nearest available water. The animal is so fastidious about cleaning its food it will sometimes go through the washing motions even when no water is available.

What A Leaf!

A Brazilian palm tree, the Raphia taedigera, grows leaves that sometimes reach over 70 feet long and 19 feet broad.

Appoint Ditka To Christian Board

Mike Ditka, head coach of the Chicago Bears, has been appointed as a member of the National Board of Trustees of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes.

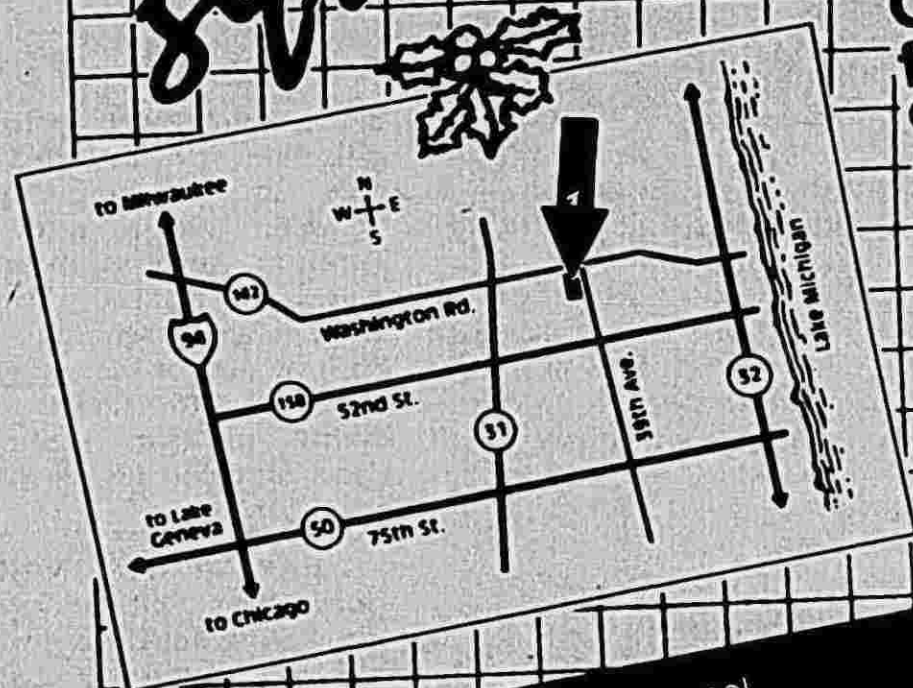

Ditka's NFL career as a tight end began as a member of the Bears, where he was chosen Rookie of the Year in 1961. Other playing stops included Philadelphia and Dallas, followed by a nine-year stint on the Cowboys' coaching staff. He returned to Chicago as head coach of the Bears in 1982, and led them to a Super Bowl victory in January of 1986.

A frequent speaker at FCA occasions around the country, Ditka and his wife Diana are members of St. Gilbert's Catholic Church in Grayslake.

The FCA National Board of Trustees serves as the governing body for the activities and programs of the Fellowship. Begun in 1964, FCA counts nearly 50,000 young people and adults on its membership rolls. Over 200 full-time staff serving in 26 states supervise and direct FCA's wide range of programs. National headquarters for the organization is located in Kansas City, Mo., adjacent to the Harry S. Truman Sports Complex.

Market Goes Higher, Interest Rates Drop

Renewed hopes of lower interest rates and year-end bargain hunting drove the stock market into record territory again.

The Federal Reserve is expected to cut its discount rate—interest charged to banks borrowing from the Fed—before the end of the year. The reason: concern for the continued economic expansion.

New orders for durable goods in October dropped by 2.6 percent from last year, and are down by six percent from September. It was the largest monthly decline since February 1984.

However, the large drop was mainly due to cent from September.

Rising transportation and food costs for the most part were responsible for the rise in the index.

—Mortgage interest rates continue to hit new lows. The Meyers Report weekly survey shows the U.S. average for 30-year fixed-rate mortgages to be 9.84 percent, 15-year fixed mortgages are at 9.49 percent.

However, some lenders are offering 30-year mortgages for nine percent and 15-year mortgages as low as eight-and-a-half percent.

The low rates are primarily being offered by mortgage companies and some banks. New administrative costs resulting from banking deregulation may prevent savings and loan associations from offering the same low rates for now.

—Balance of trade. The U.S. trade deficit declined in October to $12.06 billion. The October numbers represent a strong 25 percent improvement over the July deficit of $16.1 billion.

Forecast. The discount rate will be cut before the end of the year.

—In 1987, look for major U.S. auto manufacturers to compensate for the loss of tax deductible interest on auto loans. Most likely vehicles to move cars will be super-low financing rates and large cash rebates, within the first two months of 1987.

—The stock market will continue to soar. Look for the Dow Jones industrial average to hit 2,000, possibly by the end of 1986 or the first quarter of 1987. Also expect the Dow to hit 2,200 in 1987.

Whatever fallout that may have arisen from the insider trading scandal has been offset by anticipation of further interest rate declines.

—In 1987, first-quarter growth of the gross national product will be slow, around one percent, but then will pick up.

—Look for the balance of trade to continue to improve in 1987.

In review. Interest rate declines continue in all sectors of the economy.

Technical factors and temporary competition from short-term corporate borrowing have pushed short-term yields slightly higher.

Over the past month, long-term Treasury yields have declined steadily. The lone exception are 20-year T-bonds, which are in short supply because the Treasury department no longer issues any.

Savings. Average interest rates on CDs at the nation's banks and savings associations showed slight movement in both directions.

In part this was due to market uncertainty about the direction of rates only one week ago.

Look for interest rates to continue their decline.

Of the institutions polled nationwide, 12 percent lowered their yields for six-month CDs, while only eight percent raised them. In 30-month CDs, 10 percent of banks and S&Ls posted lower yields, and eight percent showed increased. Five-year certificates saw 11 percent of institutions pushing yields down, and only four percent with higher yields.

Loans. National mortgage rates are moving. This week 47 percent of the institutions in the national survey posted lower rates. The national average rate for a 30-year fixed rate home loan dropped to 9.84 percent, the 15-year fixed mortgage was down to 9.49 percent.

a decline in military orders. Excluding defense, durable goods orders only declined by 2.6 percent between September and October.

Interest rates. The Fed feels that it can allow interest rates to fall because inflation is no longer a threat.

—The Consumer Price Index (seasonally unadjusted) increased in October by 1.5 percent from a year ago and is up only 0.1 per-

Mundelein, Round Lake May Escape Baxter's Heavy Axe

by SUSAN MONTGOMERY
Business Editor

Baxter Travenol Laboratories Inc.'s announcement that it will eliminate 5,000 jobs over the next five years is not expected to have a severe impact on the company's Mundelein and Round Lake plants, according to a company spokesman.

The reductions, announced last week by Baxter's chief executive officer, Vernon Loucks Jr., are part of Baxter's overall reorganization plan resulting from the merger with American Hospital Supply Corp.

Although an evaluation of areas that will be trimmed is not anticipated for another four to six weeks, Baxter spokesman Les Jacobson said the job cuts will occur in offices where there are administrative positions.

"The types of jobs at Mundelein and Round Lake are mostly manufacturing," Jacobson said. The Mundelein site, which has about 300 employees, is solely manufacturing and will be exempt, he said. The Round Lake plant, which employs some 3,000 workers, does have administration positions which may be affected.

"The majority will occur in the Deerfield headquarters," Jacobson said. Although the job elimination will be spread out over the company's workforce of 60,000 employees worldwide, there will be a "definite impact" on Baxter's four northern Illinois facilities. A fourth plant is located in Niles.

"Half of the cuts will take place through attrition," Jacobson said.

The reductions are expected to yield a savings of between $150 million and $175 million annually. The net effect of the savings will not be felt this year, but should come by 1988, he said.

The study results from Baxter's merger with American Hospital Supply Corp. last November. At that time, company officials projected a 10 percent decrease in the workforce, or 6,000 jobs, over a five-year period.

The change, however, is the result of a four-part reorganization plan which is aimed at eliminating redundancy, or overlapping positions, streamlining managements layers and decentralizing operations.

Employees whose jobs are cut will receive a healthy severance package which includes continuation of health insurance, an outplacement program and job counseling.

Meyers Offers Tips On Taxes

by GARY S. MEYERS

Even as 1986 draws to a close, there's still time to take advantage of the current tax laws.

However, before you do this, you must understand the new tax law. For most of us, the tax rates on our income are going down—but at the same time, some of our favorite tax deductions are going away.

"In most cases, taxpayers should pay expenses in 1986 and defer income until 1987," said Carl Schwab, a tax partner at the international accounting firm of Price Waterhouse.

Here are some ways to use the rest of 1986:

— DEFER TAXABLE INCOME: "You may want to defer some of your 1987 income until 1988, if you can afford it," said Schwab. "Tax rates will be lower in 1988 than next year." In 1987 the "blended" tax rates are compromise rates between 1986 rates and the reform rates fully effective in 1988.

If you want to defer next year's income, the time to act is now. But, keep in mind that there are some restrictions and some risk, so consult a tax expert for more information.

"If you are in business for yourself, you might want to postpone some 1986 billings and collections until 1987, when your income will be taxed at the lower rate," said Schwab.

— LOOK AHEAD ON DEDUCTIBLE BILLS: Pay off outstanding and expected bills that can be deducted in 1986. For example, said Schwab, "planned medical expenses, such as contact lenses or planned dental work, might be scheduled to be done now or paid in advance in 1986," since the ability to take medical deductions will be reduced next year.

— PAY DEBTS NOW: "Deductions that we have taken for granted for years will be limited in 1987," said Schwab. "Interest on personal loans and credit card balances will only be partially deductible in 1987; and will be phased out by 1991."

One way to do that is to take a second mortgage. "Interest paid on home mortgages will still be deductible," said Schwab. "You can clear up those debts that aren't deductible next year with a second mortgage on your home."

— PAY SALES TAX NOW: If you are planning on making a major purchase, such as a car, boat or mobile home, do it now. In 1987, the sales tax will no longer be deductible.

"A $20,000 car can run up a sales tax of $1,000 or more," said Schwab, "and that's money you can apply against this year's income."

— INCREASE MISCELLANEOUS DEDUCTIONS: The new tax law will prevent taxpayers from deducting the first two percent of total adjusted gross income spent on miscellaneous deductible expenses. These include unreimbursed business expenses, tax-preparation fees, safe-deposit box fees, purchase of business periodicals and financial advice.

"If your income is $20,000 a year, you'll first have to spend $400 (i.e. two percent of $20,000) before you can deduct any of those expenses," said Schwab. "If you pay this year to have your 1986 tax return prepared and that payment is nonrefundable you can deduct it in full from your 1986 tax."

"If you were going to renew your subscription to Business Week magazine, do it before 1987," said Robert Greisman, a tax partner at the accounting firm of Grant Thornton.

— EXAMINE CAPITAL GAINS: Capital-gains taxes are going up. The maximum rate will increase from 20 percent this year to 28 percent in 1987.

"This should be a catalyst for a complete reevaluation of stock investment objectives and strategies," said Greisman. "People will have to decide whether it's worth the extra tax to hold onto their stock for another year or two."

Plans include placing the most sophisticated computerized gasoline pumps available and customers will have the option of pumping their own gasoline, with the installation of a new self-serve island.

Pitts and Anderson have even taken into consideration the customers well-being during bad weather by planning for the addition of canopies over the service area.

Rams Seek Momentum, Wauconda Hopes For Upset

Talk about starting a league season off on the right foot.

Grayslake's basketball team simply outclassed Wauconda 66-32 last week. That helped ease the loss of the Richmond-Burton game because a player had been ruled ineligible and a close non-conference loss to McHenry.

"I'm surprised because of our inexperience but not surprised because of our attitude," Grayslake coach Greg Groth said after the Wauconda game.

Next up on the schedule for the Rams is a home game Dec. 12 against Lake Zurich. Should Grayslake win that one, they would remain on top in the Northwest Suburban Conference's early race at 2-0.

"Last year we started fast and got cocky. But these kids needed to start fast," Groth said of his team, 3-2 overall.

Despite the successful start, there still needs work to be done, Groth said.

Timm West was just too much for the undermanned home team to contend with. West, only a sophomore, scored 23 points, 21 in the first three quarters to lead the way.

"Andrew Flood had hurt his ankle in practice Wednesday and I told Timm he would have to do some scoring. I think he will be a good player," Groth said.

Groth watched West quarterback the Grayslake sophomore squad last fall. The 6-3 forward is "a very mature sophomore," the coach said.

Grayslake jumped off to an 8-1 lead to start the game. Wauconda cut the gap to 8-5 midway through the first quarter, but by halftime, Grayslake was well in charge leading 27-9. The Rams outscored their hosts 20-2 in the second quarter.

"I think Grayslake did a good job. They were well prepared. Give Grayslake a lot of credit. They executed very well," Wauconda coach Chuck Neary, whose team fell to 1-4, 0-1 in league play, said.

Grayslake owned rebounding as the Rams won that category 43-30.

"They were getting a lot of second shots and we were only getting one shot," Neary said.

On the bright side for the Bulldogs, Neary can point to Pat Schaller's third quarter performance. Schaller scored 13 of his 15 points in the quarter.

Things don't get any easier for the Bulldogs, who travel to Marengo, a perennial conference powerhouse, Dec. 12.

In the non-league game against McHenry, the Rams dominated through two quarters and seemingly had the game locked up when Butch LeNoir started the second half with a hoop that gave the hosts an eight-point lead.

Grayslake then went ice cold.

The Rams scored 12 points in the third quarter and then were outscored 19-9 in the final stanza as McHenry pulled out a 52-46 win.

"We just blew it in the fourth quarter," Groth said.

Doubleheaders To Break Logjam In Standings

When the upcoming weekend of basketball games is completed, area teams will have a better idea where they stand in the North Suburban Conference.

"I think after this weekend, we'll have a better idea where we stand in the conference. I don't really think we know where we're at yet," Warren coach Darrel Bader said.

Antioch and Warren both started the NSC play with wins last week. All teams play a doubleheader of games Dec. 12 and Dec. 13.

Antioch coach Don Zeman knows the dangers of looking past Mundelein. Especially at Mundelein.

"Mundelein has always given us trouble there. Even last year they beat us there," Zeman said.

The Sequoits, though, will be heading into the 7:30 p.m. NSC game with new found confidence. A 58-51 home win over Niles North did wonders for after an 0-3 start at the Barrington Holiday tournament.

"Understandably, the team was down after starting 0-3. But now we can put Barrington behind us and look forward to the rest of the conference season," Zeman said.

Zeman's emphasis going into both games will be rebounding.

NSC Roundup

"The emphasis will be getting the defensive boards and boxing out," the coach said.

Mundelein's main force inside is 6'5" Joe Weiner at center.

Antioch, after being beaten on the boards at Barrington, won the rebounding war 33-16 against Niles North. The home win was the Sequoits' 10th straight in their own gym.

Scott Gooch and Wade Kilman had nine rebounds each to lead Antioch.

Offensively, the hosts started poorly, making just eight of 23 first half shots, 35 percent. By the second half, though, a 13-for-24 performance gave Antioch a 44 percent game from the field.

"We had enough opportunities in the first half but they were not going in," Zeman said.

At halftime, the visiting Vikings led 21-18.

"We made some adjustments in the second half. We put Wells (Tom) on the wing and moved Korjenek (Rick) to the baseline," Zeman said.

That switch led to 15 points for Korjenek, 14 for Kilman, 10 for Wells and nine for David Wick. The fifth starter, Gooch, had six, but those came in the first half and kept Antioch close.

Zeman said he was pleased with his team's free-throw shooting down the stretch. The team made 12 for 16 in the final quarter. Korjenek made nine for nine.

Defensively, a press shut down Niles North's Jim Foster. Although he had 30 points, few came from the set-up offense.

"The tapes showed he had 14 layups off fast-breaks," Zeman said.

Mundelein coach Dennis Kesel plans some changes after his team's fourth loss in as many games. The Mustangs lost their league opener 59-40 loss to Zion-Benton.

"We will make a lot of changes in personnel and the different things we do. There could be two new starters," Kesel said.

On bright notes, J. T. Mathwig scored 20 points in the Zion contest and Brian Kristofferson had 11.

Carmel Wins Opener, Faces Two Tough Tests

Carmel basketball coach Frank Belmont knows this weekend's games will show a lot about how far the Corsairs have advanced.

"This is a major weekend for us," Belmont said.

The Corsairs face two of the East Suburban Conference's teams in St. Patrick's and St. Viator. Both contests are in the enemy's gym.

Fortunately for Carmel, the Corsairs are coming off an easy win in the league opener. Carmel blasted Joliet Catholic 73-47. The victory boosted Carmel's mark to 3-1 overall.

Official Newspaper

Your local Lakeland Newspaper is the official newspaper of this community, authorized by statute to publish legal notices required by law.

"We shot the ball extremely well," Belmont said of his team's 28-for-46 field goal shooting.

Carmel led 20-16 after one quarter and extended the lead to 44-20 by halftime.

"We were able to get an early lead and build on it," Belmont said.

Scott Stahoviak had 19 points while Rob Graham and John Welling had 12 each.

In St. Patrick's, Belmont said Carmel will have to stop 6'5" Steve Budzyski and 6'7" Doug Borders. Point guard Steve Turrell directs the offense.

"They play a zone defense with full-court pressure," Belmont said of St. Patrick's.

Tucker Leads CLC Men Into Lincoln Tournament

by JOHN PHELPS

The College of Lake County's mens basketball team bettered its record to 5-2 with a convincing 85-72 win over the visiting Rock Valley Trojans.

When asking what were the key factors, several contributors helped the victory, but one name stands out.

David Tucker.

Tucker displayed an outstanding overall performance, included in which: five of his first shots in the early going as CLC jumped to a big lead in the first half.

"David played one of his best ballgames as a Lancer, especially in the first five to 10 minutes of the game," CLC coach Bruce Smith said.

Combining excellent inside moves, head fakes and dish-offs, Tucker turned in a 25 point, five rebound, five steals and four assists performance on the evening as Lake County blew the game wide open.

Other players in key roles in the Lancer win were Don Gunther with 13 points and 11 rebounds. Dave Sitz had a solid performance with 10 points and eight rebounds. Todd Gordon popped in 10 points to add to the win.

"We played a really fine ballgame tonight. We changed our defense late in the second half when Rock Valley closed it to three, but the guys kept the pressure on and turned the momentum over to us and then we broke away for good. Tucker, Gunther and Joel Elfering were our key players tonight," Smith said.

Grant Faces Round Lake In Early Season Test

Game Of The Week

When a basketball team starts by winning three of its first four games, the question, "but whom did they play?" is often asked.

Grant coach Tom Maple faces just such a predicament when his team hosts Round Lake Dec. 12 at 7:30 p.m. The Northwest Suburban Conference game is Lakeland Newspapers' game of the week.

"It will be a good test for us," Maple said.

The Bulldogs started the NWSC season by thrashing Marian Central 61-33 and then by humiliating Salem Central of Salem, WI 80-53 in games last week. The two victories give the Bulldogs a 4-1 start, the only loss coming to Woodstock in the Harvard Thanksgiving tourney.

Both Maple and his Round Lake counterpart, Bob Ward, will be looking to stop the others' big guns inside.

Grant's twin towers are 6'6" Don Kiesgan at center and Ron Richford at a forward spot.

Against Marian, Kiesgan had 17 points while Richford had 14. Richford had 25 against Salem with Kiesgan contributing 14.

"They're a good team with very few weaknesses," Ward, who scouted Grant's win over Salem, said.

Round Lake counters with a one-two punch of 6'7" Brian Richardson at center and Jim Bills at forward. And if Grant concentrates too much on those two, then Ward can call on the guard to get the ball to Bob Akers.

The Panthers, who won their own Thanksgiving tournament, opened the league season with a 54-43 loss to defending champion Marengo last week.

Grant, meanwhile, was having absolutely no trouble at Marian Central. Playing against a team depleted because of the state football championship, the Bulldogs allowed the Hurricanes just 15 points for three quarters.

The next night against Salem, the Bulldogs started the home opener on the right foot, leading 23-6 after one quarter. Grant allowed Salem to control the tempo in the second and third quarters and the visiting Falcons got the lead down to eight points. Although the visitors did have chances to cut the lead to six, Grant would have nothing of it.

Grant out-banged Salem in the physical battle to the tune of 44-19 in rebounding. That translated into 42 percent shooting while Salem was held to 31 percent.

Grant did have a problem in free-throw shooting, making 24 for 41, 58 percent.

Earlier last week, Round Lake beat Cary-Grove 64-58, overcoming a seven-point first quarter deficit. Richardson and Akers both had 14.

The Last Chance IRA?

Take Advantage of '86 IRA Tax Deductions

This year could be your "last chance" to receive maximum tax benefits on IRA contributions. According to the new tax laws, if you make over $40,000 annually and are covered by a company retirement plan, you will lose part or all of the tax deductions on future contributions. The right time to open an IRA is "right now" before the tax year ends, and the new laws are put into effect.

One of our IRA specialists can give you more details on the effect of tax reform on IRA contributions and can tell you about the many advantageous IRA plans available at Skokie Federal. Our high-earning 3, 5, and 7-year certicates are ideal IRA investments. All our rates are very competitive and are compounded daily for even greater yields. Your IRA certificates are insured by the FSLIC and can be opened with as little as $500. There are no front end fees or charges to pay.

Act now! For some tax-payers a full annual contribution of $2,000 before year-end could save up to $1,000 in current taxes (based on a 50% tax bracket.) Although the interest on all IRAs will continue to be tax-deferred, for many of you 1986 will be the last chance to take advantage of the immediate tax cut of an IRA contribution.

—LEGAL— NEWPORT TOWNSHIP ASSESSMENT ROLL FOR 1986 OFFICIAL ASSESSMENT LIST:

This publication is the official notice to property owners of the 1986 quadrennial assessments of land and improvements in the Township of Newport. The 1986 assessments as published herein are those determined by the Assessor and/or the Supervisor of Assessments.

It is the duty of the Assessor to assess all taxable property on a uniform basis of valuation so that the assessed values of the various properties are a just and equal assessment of such properties according to law.

The assessment roll recording the values of property determines only the distribution of the total tax load among the individual property owners. The assessor of the Township and/or the Supervisor of Assessments has no control over the amount of taxes levied, nor the public expenditures. The amount of these assessed values does not determine the amount of your tax bill. The established tax rate does that. The Assessor does not make the rate; he merely finds the value of your property.

EQUALIZATION

The following printed assessments, as well as all other assessments in the Township, are shown at 33.33 percent of market value, having been equalized to that level by the Supervisor of Assessments, who has applied a factor of 1.0073 to all values except those assessed under the provisions of Secs. 20e, 20g-1, and 44.1 of the Revenue Act of 1939, as amended.

To determine the market value of your property, add the total of the land and total of the buildings and divide the result by 0.3333. If it appears that the resulting number is higher than the market value of the property you may be over-assessed. If the resulting number is less than your opinion of market value, the assessment may be low.

ARRANGEMENT OF LIST

If you live in an incorporated area (city or village), your property is listed under the name of your city or village which will be in alphabetical order. Each street within the city or village is also arranged in alphabetical order. Property owners living on the same street will be listed as follows.

First-vacant property or improved property with no street number

Second-property with street number listed in numerical order (may be approximate)

If you live in an unincorporated area the property is listed alphabetically by post office and street name. Then, property without street numbers will be listed first followed by numbered properties in numerical order.

INFORMATION ON ASSESSMENTS

Any property owner who has any question in regard to the assessment of his property should call the local Township Assessor's office. This publication does not reflect reductions for Homestead Exemptions or disabled Veterans Exemption. Note that land value and improvement value appear separately and should be added together to arrive at a total assessed value. Certain of the values published will have been reduced by a Homestead Improvement Exemption, which under present law the reduction in assessed value could be as much as $10,000 below the actual assessment. These values are subject to a State adjustment factor certified to the County Clerk by the Department of Revenue. Any property owner who objects to the amount of his assessment should file a complaint in writing with the Board of Review from June First to September 10, 1986, or until thirty (30) days after publication, whichever is later. Complaint forms may be obtained by telephoning 360-6609 or by written request to the Supervisor of Assessments, County Building, Waukegan, Illinois 60085-4339.

Questions regarding the grid system used in determining address numbers should be directed to the Lake County Map Department, whose telephone number is 360-6373.

NASA Spinoffs Add Ease To Daily Life

by GARY S. MEYERS

In 1962, President John F. Kennedy committed the United States "to land a man on the moon and return him safely to earth." With those words, JFK sparked an outburst of U.S. talent and technology, the effects of which are still leading the world market.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) has often been criticized as a waste of taxpayers' money. But in pulling together hundreds of diverse disciplines for a unified goal, NASA has created "spinoff" benefits that are with us everywhere from the hospital room to the playground. Among them are:

—Graphite-loaded resins. These light-weight, sturdy substances, developed for spacecraft, are now found in all cars, boats and planes. In addition, these materials have made possible inexpensive prosthetic devices, such as joints, legs and arms, that long outlast their plastic counterparts.

Graphite resins are also found in everyday items such as fishing poles, tennis rackets and golf clubs.

—Telemetry. Remote monitoring of the human body's condition was developed for the Apollo missions, and now allows constant observation of a patient from different stations in a hospital, or even from a doctor's car, via satellite-telephone connection.

—Food preservation. Techniques developed for the space program have reduced waste and made shipping food to the world's hungry possible. Freeze-drying reduces food's weight for shipping and the pouch used enables perishable food to be shipped without refrigeration.

—Image enhancement. The computer-aided detailing of photographs has made arms-agreement verification more feasible and facilitated the diagnosis and treatment of tumors, cancer, ulcers, strokes and other ailments without surgery.

—Data reduction. The refinement of computer techniques to read data gathered by satellite has aided in exploring the earth's vital resources. Current research is expanding techniques developed in the 1960s and 1970s to read ground and water temperatures, detect mineral deposits, and assess crop health and air quality.

"We've already seen vast changes in economic forecasting with instant readouts of the health of world crops," said Charles Husson, former manager of several NASA research and development programs for remote sensing.

"The search for oil, minerals, underground water and natural gas has been enhanced by remote sensing, and the technology is still improving," said Husson. "Soon we'll be able to monitor stresses on a region from crop disease, insects or chemicals, and then monitor the progress of treatments."

—Geological studies. Measurement from space of stresses in the earth's crust could make possible the prediction of the time and strength of an earthquake or volcanic eruption anywhere on the planet, saving thousands of lives and billions of dollars in damages.

—Weather forecasting. Remote sensing has already greatly improved weather forecasting, saving untold lives and dollars along the Gulf Coast from hurricane and tropical storm damage. Warning time for the approach of these storms has grown from hours to days.

—Computers for business and home. The article you are now reading was written on a business computer, typeset on a printer the size of a telephone directory, and transmitted across the country in less than a minute by telephone and satellite. In storage, this entire series of articles on space research spinoffs takes up less space than the recipe for tonight's dinner.

The reason is NASA's need to fit the most computer into the smallest space.

"If it has to do with miniaturization, it came from the space program," said Husson.

Every time a new product is created, a new industry springs up. Small business has better access to such former big-business monopolies as typesetting, data-gathering and processing, communications, and media access.

So the next time you drive your car, prepare a meal, fly to another town, or just read your newspaper, remember that it is probably cheaper, quicker, easier or better because this nation chased its dreams.

A Christmas Fable Is Call For Volunteers

It was a slow day in heaven when the order came in. The Good Lord looked at it, pondered it for a long time and finally summoned His angel.

"We just got an order for a new group of volunteers."

"Volunteers!" the angel shouted.

"Now if it's teachers or lawyers you need, I can get you all you want. Or how about college students? We have plenty of college students around."

The Lord shook His head and said quietly, "It's volunteers I need."

"Okay," the angel sighed. "Maybe I can retrain some of the older models--there aren't many new ones coming along you know."

"I know. And wait 'till you hear the specs on this model," said the Lord.

"Oh no! Don't tell me this is one of those speciality items," the angel groaned.

He reached into his pocket, took out a notebook and magic marker and waited for the instructions. The Lord leaned back in His chair, folded His arms and stared off into the clouds. Finally He spoke. "This model can be male or female, young or old, any size, shape or color, and come from any walk of life."

Sounds like a piece of cake so far," said the angel.

The Lord continued, "It must be equipped with a great deal of compassion and understanding. Occasionally, it must run on megadoses of time and patience and be willing to work odd hours. It must be able to transcend politics, religion, ethnic background and differing lifestyles."

The angel looked somber. "Anything else?" he asked, wondering where he was going to come up with the parts for this model.

"Oh yes," said the Lord. "It must be willing to be a friend to a child, sit quietly, hug often, be able to laugh and cry, hold a hand, and know when to speak and when to be quiet."

The angel looked intently at the Lord. "Pardon me, Sir, but it's going to be tough to come up with a model to do all that without pay."

"Oh, this one will get a salary," the Lord announced.

"A salary!" the angel

spattered. "Volunteers don't get salaries!"

"This one will be a member of a team," the Lord went on, ignoring the angel's protest, "and each team member will be responsible to give to one another:

S—support
A—appreciation
L—love
A—affirmation
R—respect
Y—yards of encouragement."

"Oh," the angel smiled sheepishly. And what is this volunteer going to be doing that it needs to meet all these specifications?"

The Lord looked at him and replied, "Working with one of our most valued resources."

"Ahh," the angel whispered. "Do you want to put a label on it Lord?"

"Yes, my friend, we'll call these Big Brothers and Big Sisters."

Household Hint

Before throwing away jam and jelly containers, fill with hot water and shake. Use the sweetened water when making gelatin desserts.

Urge Program

This year's National Drunk and Drugged Driving Awareness week to be held Dec. 14-20 will emphasize "designated driver" programs.

Fred R. Ekornaas, Kenosha County Sheriff, said that each year this week coincides with the season when families and friends of all faiths make a point of being together. He said that "this special season is a good time for all of us to do everything in our power to be sure that our own special circles are not diminished by injury or death."

"Our nationwide campaign to end the senseless highway slaughter by impaired drivers is making headway," said Sheriff Ekornaas. "People are still drinking, but many of them are drinking less, and when they drink many of them are no longer driving." He said that now when a group is out for an evening, someone is appointed not to drink—a designated driver.

Sheriff Ekornaas said there are several things that can be done to support the designated driver idea. Request your local bar, restaurant or sports arena to sponsor a designated driver program. Support the designated driver program. When it is being promoted in a drinking establishment—use it. Respect the designated driver. If someone is serving as a designated driver, don't try to convince him or her to drink.

Antioch Area Exudes Holiday Good Cheer

CAROLYN HAMMOND

(95) 395-6081

What's the old adage—Many hands make the work light—or is it "Too many cooks spoil the broth?" In the case of Antioch, it's neither.

A masterful "broth" so to speak was prepared and the work was not light as the An-

Along the way with ANNIE MAE

YOU CAN BET that I'll be at the marionette show that's taking place this weekend. It is going to be such a thrill taking my grandchildren to see the show, and to maybe even get to learn how to use the puppets. Thanks to Bill Naumann and the Antioch Chamber of Commerce for bringing our town such an exciting show.

THIS WEEK'S holiday hint revolves around trimming the Christmas tree, a fun event for all involved. The best way to enjoy this occasion is to play holiday music good and loud, make plenty of egg nog (with just a pinch of sherry for the fellows who cut the tree), and get prepared for fun.

THIS IS THE LAST issue of the News-Reporter for its editor. A new girl is coming to town, and Annie Mae hopes all will give her a warm welcome. Annie is sure the fellow who's leaving liked everyone in Antioch, and will want to continue to associate with them.

The Time Machine

FIFTY YEARS AGO: December 10, 1936

For those who thought that "Dynasty" was the hottest thing around, listen to this. "Mrs. Rose Amundsen, 54, demanded that her husband, Arthur, mayor of Fox Lake, abdicate his mayoral throne or sacrifice her affection. This was her ultimatum yesterday at a 'peace parley' in the chambers of Circuit Judge Ralph J. Dady. She said, 'I don't intend to live with him as long as he remains in politics, because politics and booze go hand in hand.' The Fox Lake mayor countered with an offer of an extended honeymoon in Florida, but he remained silent on the political issue. Amundsen has, his wife admitted, lived 'on the water-wagon' since she filed suit for divorce, charging habitual drunkenness." Now that sounds like politics.

"James Atwell celebrated his ninetieth birthday very quietly in his home one day last week." Well, what did they expect, a 10-piece band?

"The man who is an optimist is usually a success, for his mind is never worrying about the reasons why a thing cannot be done."

"By hastily changing the name of a polar bear in the local zoological gardens from 'Kosciusko' to 'Polar,' zoo officials in Sydney are sure they have averted an international incident." This latest form of diplomacy does seem to come in handy in international incidents, but it makes finding your favorite animal in the zoo pretty confusing.

TWENTY YEARS AGO: December 15, 1966

"A burglary occurs in the United States once every forty seconds." Where I come from, that was a pretty good day.

"Never in the history of America has such lawlessness and disrespect for law and order reached such levels as prevail today," declared California State Chamber of Commerce President Joseph A. Moore, Jr. "The time has come for every public official to take a firm stand and implement action which will make the streets of America safe once again and which will provide protection for life, limb, and property." This guy's been watching too much "Miami Vice."

"Sneakers, a dog belonging to the family of Charles Waters, has a real friend in his young master, Charles Waters Jr. Sneakers fell through the ice on the channel Sunday morning and couldn't get out. Young Charles, 15 years old, lay on his stomach and crawled out to the dog. The ice was too thin for him to risk pulling the dog out, so he chopped the ice ahead of the dog, meantime backing toward the shore himself. Sneakers followed his master safely to shore. 'I just couldn't let him drown,' Charles said." Now there's a nice story. Good job, Charles.

"Wise guys never get turned down when they ask the pretty waitress for her telephone number, but when they dial it, a voice pleasantly answers, 'Pest Control Service.' Ain't that the truth."

TEN YEARS AGO: December 15, 1976

"On Dec. 6, 1966, George Gollwitzer and Charles Lux gave a pancake feast to a number of friends at the latter's home Monday evening. Games were played until about 10 o'clock when the hosts retired to the kitchen there to demonstrate they were equal to the occasion. Numbering the cakes eaten by each guest proved that the boys gained the victory between themselves and cake turning." That's good old-fashioned fun for you.

"Traveling man on your gift list? A welcome tuck-in is a plastic case filled with personal sizes of grooming aids. For a Christmas-y air, stitch a stocking from plastic, and fill it with toothpaste, brush, shave cream, and razor blades."

"The greatest discovery of my generation is that human beings can alter their lives by altering their attitudes of mind"—William James.

Notes & News

Antioch Chamber of Commerce and Industry, under the leadership of Christmas Program Chairwoman Florence Babusek brought Santa's Enchanted Castle to the children of Antioch and the surrounding area. And it is a work of art!

According to its designer, Vince Giorgio, the 10 foot by 20 foot structure was built by Tom Robinson "...as strong as a house and better insulated."

In case you haven't taken a closer look, it's not made of stone, but wood. Each "stone" was handcrafted of 2 inch by 8 inch or 2 inch by 10 inch pieces of wood and attached to the walls. That's a lot of dedication folks!

The painting was done by Richard Irmen, use of the trailer was provided by Tom Creighton, of Tom's Auto in Round Lake, who lives in Antioch, and Body Craft's Dan Tanski painted the spires. Kudos to Quaker Industries allowed the use of their facilities to build it.

Each child who visits Santa will receive, among other things, a giant coloring book, donated by the Antioch area business community.

Besides the castle, the coloring book is Vince Giorgio's "pride and joy." He said, "Don't forget to mention all the hard work done by Debbie Hartoklis, putting together the advertising and the general all around help of Meta's Anthony Tornabene, Jr."

Giorgio is a splendid example of a retired gentleman who may have retired from full-time employment but not from life. "As long as Bill Peterson (of B.J.'s) keeps needing me, I keep on going," he said. May it be for a long time!

The castle has a definite future too. Come Easter season it will become a fairyland. Next Christmas season, there might be live reindeer to see. According to Chamber of Commerce President, Larry Hanson, "This is just the beginning." The group is already busy making plans for 1987.

There will be a special event each month of the year under the theme of "Working Together" with the Antioch, Lake Villa and Lindenhurst areas.

Did you recognize that bewhiskered gentleman riding on the float in the Christmas Parade with Florence and Larry? Besides his known alias as Santa, his initials are R.I.

Santa came early to an Antioch area woman. Alice Krucek, from Bassett, Wisconsin, won a seven day-six night trip for two to Hawaii as part of the seventy-fifth anniversary of Antioch's Piggly-Wiggly parent company, Schultz Save-O Warehouse.

To start the round of weekend activities, the National Marionette Company will present two shows on Dec. 13 at St. Peter's Church basement hall. Shows will start at 2 and 3 p.m., consecutively.

The performances of the "Elves and the Cobbler" and "Little Matchstick Girl" plus a puppet demonstration will be sponsored by the Antioch Chamber of Commerce and Industry in cooperation with the Carousel Women's Apparel Store. Tickets are $2 and will be sold at the door.

Another activity, scheduled for 2 p.m., Dec. 13, will be the Antioch Library Christmas Party. Santa will be on hand to pass out gifts.

A week of musical celebration of Christmas will begin at 7 p.m. as Antioch High School's Fine Arts Dept. presents its annual "Dickens Festival."

The evening will be a feast for the eyes, ears and "belly." The Drama Department will present street scenes, a.k.a. King Richards Faire, the Concert Chior, Woodchior, Freshman Girl's Chior, Madrigals and Symphonic Band will perform. Crafts will be demonstrated and sold, as will food and beverages to delight your palate.

Sunday, Dec. 14 the scene repeats itself at 2 p.m., but the performers will be different. The Concert Band, Brass Band and the Acapella Chior will join the Madrigals and Drama Dept. to present an afternoon of enjoyment.

On Dec. 15, the Antioch Twp. Library will hold a cookie exchange and evening storytime. Bring homebaked cookies to share along with a favorite cookie recipe. All participants will receive a compiled cookbook of these recipes. That's a great way to get some "tried and true" new or maybe old recipes.

W.C. Petty School will present its Winter Program on Dec. 16. First through third grades will perform.

A hop skip and a jump across the parking lot the AUGS will begin its annual Christmas Choral Concert at 8 p.m. on Dec. 16. Since you're out, plan to attend both. AUGS chiors are terrific!

Dec. 18 finds Antioch Grade School kindergarten through third grade students presenting their Christmas Program at 7 p.m.

For an instrumental celebration, AUG invites you to its annual Christmas Band Concert at 8:30 p.m. on Dec. 18.

Antiochians have no excuse not to get in the Christmas mood with all of these wonderful events to delight your soul and spirit.

Santa Disillusionment Might Be The Big One

When I Think About It

by GLORIA DAVIS

Far be it from me to resist change, even if it be in the aura that surrounds such a special holiday as Christmas.

Of course, nothing stays the same. I guess I was naive enough to hope that the cheery, warmth of loving and giving that was meant to be the mainstay of Christmas would always remain the basis of the holiday.

Even modern day commercialism, though denting the religious mystique, still has an attitude of sharing about it and I don't mean just the sharing of one's paycheck with the charge card companies. Heck, I'm not adverse to admitting that I like receiving just as much as giving.

Many years ago, the rather revealing Christmas melody about "Mummy Kissing Santa Claus" sort of smashed my kids belief in that kindly jolly old elf.

But then that belief was quickly reinstated when they realized that the loss of Santa would mean the loss of those gifts that were reportedly from that fabled occupant of the North Pole.

The real Christmas spirit still lives despite songs about a reindeer killing grandma on Christmas Eve while she was walking home alone and drunk.

It survived "Saturday Night Live's" irreverent skit concerning the first night that a special infant spent with Mary and Joseph in Bethlehem.

And the children in a little town I know seem to be growing up untainted despite their exposure to a Santa that was a little too full of Christmas cheer.

A group of parents had hired a Santa to ride from house to house with a bag of goodies as a special holiday treat so their kids could really experience an honest to goodness live visit from Santa.

Little did they know that Santa had a drinking problem and many of the parents offered him some Christmas spirits to keep him warm between stops.

The kids at the end of the line were slightly disillusioned when Santa literally slid in their door instead of down the chimney.

Now I've heard about fake bell-ringing Santas setting up kettles on the street for their favorite charity, themselves.

I've even dealt with the fact that my husband, like many of his peers, becomes more Scrooge-like as each present is opened on Christmas Eve. I guess visions of bill collectors and not sugar plums are dancing in his head.

The real holiday spirit lives regardless of stories about home burglaries on Christmas day when the family is off to grandma's for a holiday dinner, a real case of "all through the house, no one was stirring but Louie the Louse" who makes off with all the Christmas gifts.

But this time, they've gone too far! I think this is really the big one, Elizabeth!

I saw an ad the other day ballyhooing the availability of "Mr. and Mrs. Stripping Santa Claus."

Is nothing sacred? What's going to happen when everyone finds out that this aerobic Santa's stomach won't shake like a bowl full of jelly?

Greenmail Means Trouble For Consumers

by GARY S. MEYERS

Greenmail, one of Wall Street's new buzzwords, spells trouble for consumers and small-to-medium investors.

Greenmail occurs when a well-heeled investor attempts to take over a company, only to have that company pay him big, big bucks to go away.

FOR EXAMPLE: A big investor, Bullish Bob, buys a significant amount of stock (five percent or more) in a fruit company called Ripe Pickins, Inc., and announces that he plans a takeover.

Management panics: Their jobs are on the line. If Bob has his way, he'll consolidate, make the company more efficient and probably replace top management.

So the managers decide to buy Bullish Bob's stock from him. But Bob resists. To get Bob's stock, management offers to pay a premium: If the market price of the stock is, say, $30 a share, they'll offer $35 or more.

The result: Bullish Bob walks away with a quick clean killing--and Ripe Pickins, Inc., is saddled with additional debt because it had to borrow to pay Bob off.

Who gets hurt? We all do--U.S. consumers, workers and investors who hold stock in the company:

CONSUMERS: A company that takes on debt will try to compensate by raising prices. If the firm takes on too much debt, it goes out of business and the free market has one less competitor--which could drive up prices.

WORKERS: They feel the impact if management tries to cut costs, unnecessary jobs and unprofitable divisions, just as Bob would have done.

SHAREHOLDERS: They can benefit over the short term, since a takeover bid usually raises the price of a stock. However, if greenmail is paid, the stock price probably won't go as high as it would have if the takeover had gone through, and shareholders lose out on the difference.

Most people would agree that this isn't a good situation--but who's to blame and what can be done?

Most experts interviewed by The Meyers Report side with Bullish Bob: They see corporate raiders as an extra-market force that often promotes efficiency.

"A raider tries to take over a company when he thinks that the stock price is lower than the true value of the company," said Marc Klibanow to E.F. Hutton. "This is most often the case when a company has good assets and potential, but is poorly managed."

TransWorld Airlines may be a good example. Carl

Icahn acquired the faltering airline and seems to be turning it toward profitability.

When executives pay greenmail, they may have a conflict of interest.

"The biggest problem in corporate America today is that high-level managers are protecting their jobs at everyone else's expense," said John Phillips, a partner in Houston-based Phillips, Fahy and Rockwell. "I'd like to see a lot of lazy managers kicked out on their butts."

Moreover, the managers are giving preferential treatment to one shareholder--Bullish Bob--at the expense of the other shareholders.

"It seems these managers are more interested in running a big company than a profitable one," Phillips added.

Congress already is discussing the possibility of outlawing greenmail. However, even if laws are passed, greenmail probably won't be easy to stop.

--The opposing view is that Bullish Bob targeted Ripe Pickins because he knew that its management would pay him off, not because he actually wanted to own the company.

"Sure, some of these guys are playing poker," said Klibanow. "Sometimes they go after a company that they know will lie down and roll over, but that's more the exception than the rule."

According to this view, the problem here is that executives in a well-managed company will lose their jobs.

"I don't think that view holds much water," said David Shelby, an acquisition specialist who formerly was senior vice president with International Harvester. "A well-run company is difficult to take over, because the stock price reflects the real value of the company."

"If a raider still comes after a well-run firm, he's going to have to pay more than the company's worth. That means the shareholder profits and management has done its job," said Marc Casolo, investment analyst with Tucker, Anthony & R.L. Day in Albany, N.Y.

"If you hold stock in a company that has recently paid greenmail, it's time to take a good look at just what management is doing and compare the results with comparable companies," said Shelby. "And if you are not happy, raise hell!"

Swears In Staff

In one of his first official acts, newly elected Chief Judge of the Nineteenth Judicial Circuit, Fred A. Geiger swore in members of the Dept. of Court Services in the ceremonial courtroom in the courthouse in Waukegan on Dec. 5.

In all, 84 professional court services and probation officers were administered the oath of office after the chief judge first swore in Court Services Director George Gallagher of Grayslake.

In general comments made to the assembled staff, Judge Geiger praised them for their professionalism and stated that he believed that the Lake County Dept. was the finest in the state in terms of staff, programs and degree of professionalism.

Judge Geiger concluded his remarks by saying he wanted to see continuing improvements in court services operations and stressed the importance of keeping the citizens of the county aware of what the department and its various programs were achieving.

The Court Services Dept. is an important part of the justice system and has a responsibility both to serve the community and to protect it, as well as rehabilitation of persons placed in its charge.

Reappointed with departmental staff were associate directors Michael J. Mortensen of Antioch and James Betustak of Lindenhurst. Five deputy directors, in charge of Adult Services, Juvenile Services, Resource Division, Hulse Detention Center, and Investigations/Intensive/Bond Supervision, were Frank Kuzmickus of Waukegan, Rita Fullwood-Hilson of North Chicago, Susan Smith of Grayslake, Dan Reese of Third Lake, and Don Horn of Libertyville.

Advice On Advice For Bride, Groom

How to handle a never-ending stream of advice from family and friends is a challenge all marrying couples face, according to an article in Bride's magazine.

"It's not good for a marriage if a wife makes more money than her husband," the bride's mother might say. "You really should buy a condominium instead of renting," the groom's uncle will insist.

Everyone is eager to help a bride and groom adjust to their new roles. The only trouble with all this help is that it can be so overwhelming that the couple end up feeling confused and pressured. Which advice should they take? How can they turn down a piece of advice without hurting a loved one's feelings?

In order to deal with this situation, the couple must know what they want, says Bride's. They should sit down together before the wedding and ask, "Where do we want to live? How important will our careers be? How do we hope to spend our free time?" Premarital counseling—available through churches, universities, and psychological associations—can help by providing a framework for these talks.

The answers the couple should arrive at should be as specific as possible—for instance, "We'll try to start a family in three years," or "We'll plan to spend one weekend a month alone, just the two of us." When the couple disagree, they should push to find a compromise rather than one or the other simply giving in, since "easy" solutions often lead to anger and resentment.

Once a couple feel secure in their decision, says Bride's, they'll be able to react calmly to the advice coming their way.

First, they should determine if there's an underlying reason why a person is so eager to offer advice. If a bride finds her mother-in-law to be taking a little too much interest in the wedding, she should stop and examine what's going on: maybe the woman always wanted a daughter of her own. The bride can then respond on this level instead of with anger and perhaps think of ways to get her fiancée's mother more involved.

Second, the couple should realize that all the advice they get won't be useless—especially when an advice-giver has experience in the area. A harried bride and groom may feel that yet another opinion on where they should go for their honeymoon is the last thing they need, but if it's coming from a cousin who has traveled all over the world it could prove invaluable.

Finally, the bride and groom must know how to stop listening and turn down unneeded advice. Since most advice-givers mean well, it's only kind for the couple to let them know that they do value their opinions even if they can't use all of them.

But, at the same time, they should make it clear that they are rejecting the advice.

Real Estate Guide

Weekly Tip: Sow a kind word; reap blossoming friendships.

Aries (Mar. 21-Apr. 19) Wise Lambs ignore nagging naysayers who try to lambaste your efforts. Stick to what you know is right for you. Your efforts soon pay off.

Taurus (Apr. 20-May 20) It's a time for least resistance to changes that need to be made. Problems in adjusting soon ease up once intelligent explanations come through.

Gemini (May 21-June 20) Wind up as many outstanding business matters as you can before year's end. The fewer strings left dangling, the less chance of getting entangled.

Cancer (June 21-Jul. 20) Romantically inclined moon children could be easily swayed by illusions. Much of what passes for substance is probably gossamer.

Leo (Jul. 21-Aug. 22) Leonine pride gets a nice polish as your efforts begin to be appreciated. Expect a welcome token of recognition as the gala season approaches.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) A major investment needs more time before it can begin to show the first glimmer of promise. Be patient. Follow up on unfinished business.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) As the weather turns cooler your prospects become warmer. Expect to have some good news to share with kith and kin this holiday season.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) A short discussion may be all that's necessary to clear up a murky situation. Why wait for the light to come on later when you can turn it on now.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) Speak out against an unwelcome intrusion in your life. Remember: allowing the pattern to continue makes it harder to break later on.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Your aspects indicate someone wants to know more about you; the object is to get to know you better for reasons that should please you.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) A chance for partnership shows great promise. Domestic situations take on more positive aspects. Pay attention to children.

Pisces (Feb. 19-Mar. 20) The fewer promises you make now the fewer you'll have to break later. Go easy on your enthusiasm. There's a lot more to know before you say yes. © 1986, McNaught Synd.
